

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN 1976

By REX ALSTON

A Young England team had a highly successful tour of the West Indies in the late summer of 1976 and were unbeaten, winning six of their eleven matches. Unfortunately, for political reasons, they were unable to visit Jamaica and Guyana. However, they won two representative matches against West Indies Youth, both played in Trinidad—a four-day game by 22 runs, and a 40-over game on a faster over rate of 7 per over against 3.6.

The tour, organised by the N.C.A., was the fourth in the series of bi-annual visits initiated in memory of Sir Frank Worrell. West Indies Youth toured England in '70 and '74 and the England Young Cricketers went to West Indies in '72 and now in '76. To emphasise the importance of these matches to English cricket, eleven of the fifteen who went on the '72 tour have since played County cricket and two, Gooch (Essex) and Miller (Derbyshire), have played for England.

The '76 team, captained by C. S. Cowdrey (Kent), contained a number who had experience of first-class cricket and the Manager, G. H. G. Doggart (Sussex and England), formed a high opinion of several of them, especially Cowdrey as batsman and captain, C. W. J. Athey (Yorkshire) and D. I. Gower (Leicestershire) as batsmen and M. W. Gatting (Middlesex), the outstanding all-round success of the tour who made 467 runs and took the most wickets (30). M. K. Fosh (Essex) also did well with the bat. A. S. Patel (Middlesex) excelled in a good fielding side in which both wicket-keepers, P. R. Downton (Kent) and I. J. Gould (Middlesex) qualified as batsmen in their own right. The bowling was less impressive, P. J. W. Allott (Cheshire) being the most penetrative of the openers and Patel (slow left-arm), D. J. Munden (Leicestershire) (leg breaks) and R. G. Williams (Northamptonshire) (off-breaks) were useful spinners. The absence of these fifteen meant that the standard of play suffered in the trial matches at Eastbourne, and in the representative games at Lord's.

Summarised scores and averages appear at the end of this article.

The two-day game at Lord's between the National Association of Young Cricketers and MCC Schools, which contained most of the best of those who had played at Eastbourne, ended in a tame draw, the Schools batsmen making only 93 for two in two hours in their second innings. Several batsmen showed good form, especially P. G. Ingham (Yorkshire) and G. Fowler (Lancashire), both of whom had played in the equivalent fixture in 1975. Ingham batted with great maturity and the left-handed Fowler, full of enterprise and good strokes, was also an excellent wicket-keeper. The only other N.A.Y.C. batsman to impress was the hard-hitting M. Donald (Sussex) who was also a useful medium-pace bowler.

The best-looking Schools batsman was Bainbridge who has a pleasant upright style and likes to hit the ball. C. R. Clark (Felsted) and Peck, both of whom made over 1,100 runs for their schools, obviously did not show their true form. Tomlins (Middlesex), another '75 performer, was a handy all-rounder. The bowling of both sides was very ordinary. S. J. Adams (Lancashire) was the only one with any pretension to pace, and the most likely to succeed in a higher class of cricket were the spinners Heritage (Yorkshire) and N. James (Nottinghamshire) (slow left-handers) and Mountjoy (Lancashire) and C. Norton (Leicestershire) (off-breaks).

With so little talent available, the England Young Cricketers chosen from the above were beaten by six wickets by Combined Services in a 55-over match. Bainbridge made a bright 64, but no one else reached 30. Ingham and Fowler promised well but both fell in the 20's, Fowler unhappily being badly run out, and the last six wickets fell for 21 to the Services' slow bowlers. Their batsmen made light of the Schools' bowling and won comfortably.

Sifting through comments of the masters in charge of cricket, one notes that many schools had highly successful seasons, at least twenty being unbeaten by other schools, three—Downside, Felsted and Solihull—in all games. These three, with Bedford, stand out, certainly in their own groups, and perhaps in the whole country.

Felsted, unbeaten by any school for the second consecutive year, were exceptionally well equipped. C. R. Clark, a left-handed opener, made 1,120 runs and D. R. Pringle set a school record of 58 wickets. He and M. J. L. Trestrail (51 wickets), both medium-pace, were never mastered, and the wicket-keeper and captain, N. P. Havers, took 27 catches, another school record. The side averaged 22 overs per hour, and gained four easy wins in the Eastbourne Festival, beating Clifton, Eastbourne, Tonbridge and Winchester.

Downside had their best eleven in many years and their results would have looked even better if they had been able to win five of the draws in which the opposition had seven or more wickets down. Success revolved round the batting and captaincy of A. R. Bernard, the batting of S. P. Henderson and W. P. Tyler, and the bowling of S. J. J. Poland, together with high quality fielding.

Bedford's record was most impressive. The side was inspired by the leadership and batting ability of I. G. Peck, whose 1,181 runs were usually made against the clock. His chief supporters were R. Boyd-Moss and a fast left-arm bowler R. Palmer. The whole side fielded aggressively, had the will to win and were always ready to risk defeat to achieve victory.

At Solihull, the eleven were never bowled out and their nine wins all came when batting second. Others who reported "unbeaten by other schools" were Bradfield, strong in batting and intelligently captained by M. J. C. Nicholas, an outstanding all-rounder. N. E. Ward was an excellent wicket-keeper with 31 victims.

Birkenhead School won five of their eleven school matches and drew the other six. S. Plimley averaged 75 against schools and was well supported by the captain, D. M. Reynolds and slow left-hander, I. R. McCormick. The master in charge comments that one of the penalties of being successful was that opposing captains put them into bat and then made no attempt to win the game after a declaration. These tactics were criticised by other schools.

Cheltenham Grammar School were a strong and experienced eleven under their captain, L. B. Nicholls, a stylish and exciting batsman who took useful wickets. J. R. Cranwell bowled with aggression and thought.

Emanuel School enjoyed their most successful season ever. They won the Surrey Schools Knock-Out, beating Battersea Grammar School in a memorable final. Elizabeth College, Guernsey, were dismissed on only three occasions throughout the season. P. R. Lawlor always made runs when required. The captain, N. J. Gill, was a batsman of elegance and class, and D. J. Williamson flighted his off-spinners cleverly.

It was an outstanding year for Lancing cricket, the only two defeats being by strong club sides. N. D. Ogle set a superb example in the field and batted with elegance. The most dependable player was the 16-year-old W. E. J. Barrington. Two left-arm bowlers, P. J. Duffen (fast-medium) and R. B. Fawsset (slow) had much to do with the school's success.

In Marlborough's successful season, Winchester, Clifton, Eton, Radley, Rugby and Haileybury were all beaten. The captain, M. S. Gibson, topped the batting and bowling averages.

The feature of Millfield's season was the batting of M. Olive, who scored over 700 runs for the second season in succession, but only two schools matches were won. Milton Abbey School had their most successful season ever. Batting in depth, aggressive quick bowling, and two accurate left-handers, supported by excellent ground fielding and catching, ensured 14 results in 15 games.

For the second year running, Oundle were unbeaten against schools and possessed probably their best side since before the War. Five schools were beaten, and two survived by one wicket. The batting was strong in depth and the opening attack of J. M. Knight and J. B. H. Dracup was considerably faster than anyone in the opposition. A. N. Murley, captain for the second year, was a skilful leader and the most accomplished batsman.

Queen Elizabeth Grammar School, Wakefield, had the best season anyone at the school could recall. The eleven were undefeated and won ten out of fourteen schools matches, many against the clock. Sedbergh were unbeaten in schools matches. The captain, J. J. Rogers, batted consistently. The two leading bowlers were M. H. Wilson (left-arm spin) and S. A. B. Daniels (fast-medium). Shrewsbury continued their successful run, and had three wins against Rugby, Cheltenham and Ellesmere. The captain, N. C. Crawford, totalled over 2,000 runs and took 99 wickets in his four years in the side.

The successful Wellington side was reckoned a happy one, with fielding of a high standard and many successful all-rounders. R. I. H. B. Dyer's aggregate 948 was a new college record, as was P. H. L. Wilson's 192 not out, and H. L. Jenner was a good wicket-keeper. Dyer captained the Southern Schools at Eastbourne and Wilson opened the bowling.

Continuing the success story, Glenalmond were the leading Scottish school. Their only defeat came from Radley, where they lost a fine match by 17 runs. This was another school whose opponents played negative cricket from the outset to avoid defeat. St. Peter's York, after two early defeats, won seven of the next eight matches. Two all-rounders, the captain P. C. Clare, and D. J. Riley, were chosen for the Eastbourne trials. Worksop suffered only one defeat in all matches—against St. Peter's York. S. H. Basnett, captain and off-spinner, was supported by R. J. M. Welburn (left-arm spinner), Basnett being especially successful against schools.

Chigwell had a very successful season for a small school. In their match against Forest School they won by six wickets, making 145 in only one and a quarter hours. J. G. McClean made a splendid not-out century against the Old Boys. Colston's, Bristol report one of their best seasons ever, only losing one match. The captain, A. D. Bromley (fast-medium), broke his own school record of 75 wickets by taking 76, and he also topped the batting averages. Framlingham had their most successful season for years, losing only one school fixture. Outstanding was the captain, A. P. Sharland, who scored three centuries and quickly learned the art of captaincy. Haberdashers' Aske's lost only one school game, to William Hulme's, Manchester, on tour. A strong batting side was led by the captain, R. P. Moulding, who in his three years in the eleven scored 2,070. They too complained about negative tactics adopted by many of their opponents.

Harrow were the only school to defeat Malvern, who had a good and happy season. Success was due to combined team effort, good fielding and the captaincy of M. M. Ware. N. G. Abell was a prolific opening batsman. Manchester Grammar School improved considerably, owing to some aggressive innings by the captain, G. M. Beckett, who scored two undefeated centuries. Two spinners, J. S. Hutchinson (off-spin) and S. N. Burrows (slow left-arm), were very effective. Monmouth were only defeated by one school side, William Hulme's, on tour. Features were aggressive batting by D. I. Watkins, and fine bowling, especially by L. J. Davies, whose six for 25 against Dauntsey's included a hat trick. Monkton Combe began their season with six consecutive victories, all when batting second, and their only defeat was by Epsom on tour. A. S. Thomas played good attacking cricket and S. N. Brennan (an all-rounder) and A. P. Newman (left-arm) were the main wicket takers. Mill Hill lost only to Haileybury. Their all-rounder A. D. Halstead took 32 wickets with off-spin and scored 526 runs. His younger brother, P. R. Halstead, was one of the most prolific batsmen in the country (885).

Sherborne were a very good bowling and fielding side, but the batting depended heavily on the captain, T. D. W. Edwards, who played well in the Eastbourne trials. Only one match was lost during the term. Trent College lost only one out of fifteen school matches. The captain, L. Taylor, scored two centuries, captained the side well, and was supported by excellent fielding. Cheltenham had a happy and satisfying season, improving greatly as it developed. C. R. B. Tottenham was a good captain and opening batsman, and others to do well were A. T. C. Morgan and N. J. D. Harris, whilst P. J. Goodall (medium pace) took most wickets. Christ's Hospital had a young side who won six matches, largely through good bowling, especially Q. P. V. Brown (fast medium) who took nine for 33 against Whitgift and seven for 26 against Eastbourne. Clifton had a season of exciting games and developed a good team spirit. A. M. Fine's 143 against Cheltenham was a major innings. Several times a winning position was lost through vital dropped catches. Fine was also the outstanding bowler (off-spin), well supported by A. J. Purves (leg-spin).

The Charterhouse captain, R. J. M. Hughes, and the opening bat N. J. L. Sellars each made over 500 runs. The attack consisted of R. C. Phillips and E. M. Dudhia (medium pace) and two spinners, D. E. Monteath and Sellars. At Dean Close, P. M. Gilliam scored 705 runs, and D. A. L. Lawson took 43 wickets in a good season. Gresham's did well due to the positive approach of their captain and off-spinner, T. G. S. Zillesen and three good batsmen. Truro School were winners in the Cornish Schools Knock-Out Trophy. They had a good leg-spinner in T. N. Tinker. Sir Roger Manwood School, Sandwich, had a good season thanks to the nagging accuracy of the captain, C. Aldred, and the useful batting of A. R. Nicholson.

Queen's College, Taunton, enjoyed their best season since the war. They were very strong in batting, and the fielding a credit. Bloxham had probably their strongest batting side since 1970, and S. C. Smith excelled. They fielded well, but the bowling generally lacked penetration, a notable exception being the fast bowler J. J. Johnson. Bishop's Stortford College were unexpectedly successful and lost only one match. They had aggressive batting in depth and C. M. Ireland was a positive captain. The fielding was first-rate, but the bowling lacked penetration and experienced spin.

Reading gained victories over Stowe and The Leys, and a creditable draw against Wellington. R. J. Bianga three times took five wickets in a match, including the hat trick against Douai. Perse were extremely keen in the field, with two good spinners in K. W. H. Churchman and A. Whitehead, whilst the wicket-keeping and batting of M. L. Sagers were vital factors. Oakham School were a workmanlike XI, built around the mature stroke-play of J. Podd and J. Graves, and the aggression of the captain, N. J. Pragnell, who also bowled penetrating fast-medium off-cutters. They won their first-ever victory over Uppingham.

There were good batting performances at Llandovery, and the side usually played admirably. Their two most able cricketers with bat and ball were N. Clarke and W. H. Williams. Edinburgh Academy were moderately successful. A. J. S. Corrie batted notably on the slow wickets and lush outfield and took 40 wickets. The opening bowler E. S. Paton's final tally in three years was 140 wickets. Cranbrook School had an encouraging season with only two defeats against schools. The captain, A. W. King, scored two centuries, and frequently opened the bowling. He scored a century and took six for 53 against Dover.

Some schools commented on the value of outstanding cricketers. King's School, Macclesfield, possessed a splendid opening batsman in J. N. Goodfellow, and J. J. Cope took 43 wickets with leg spinners. At St. Albans, D. W. Rodgers' 448 runs were a post-war record, whilst N. J. H. Beardow (fast-medium) took five wickets five times. For Sutton Valence M. R. Benson, the captain, scored four hundreds and D. C. G. Foster two, the former's 173 against King's, Rochester being a school record. He also made a not out century in the Public Schools Trial at Eastbourne.

Pocklington's talented side lacked character. However, the captain I. M. Allison (slow right-arm) and N. J. Charlesworth (fast medium) bowled well and R. J. Thompson scored over 500 runs. Repton suffered from lack of penetrative bowling, but had a 16-year-old all-rounder D. J. Bridgeman, who scored two centuries and took six for 26 with off-spinners against Malvern. The outstanding feature of Alleyn's season was the four centuries scored by C. Bangal against other schools. R. Cummins (slow left-arm) was the best bowler.

The strength of Bootham was the medium-fast bowling of the captain, M. T. Foulds, complemented by C. E. Lawton (left-arm fast), and two spinners, P. J. Caldwell and A. R. Rattray. Berkhamsted relied on two good cricketers, I. J. Carlile making a century against Magdalen College School and R. W. Parsons taking eight for 32 against Incogniti. The best players at Canford School were N. J. Chapman, who made a not-out century against Bryanston, R. P. Garnett (slow left-arm) with eight for 34 against Downside, and A. D. C. Williams (medium-fast) with eight for 13 against Nottingham High School. King Edward VI, Stourbridge, did not win as often as expected, but the Dickens brothers, S. J. and A. C., showed excellent form with the bat.

Fettes College, who won three victories against other schools, had a varied bowling attack. D. T. Brydon (medium) took five for 3 against Strathallan, including a hat-trick, and T. D. Clark (off-spin) five for 47 against Edinburgh Academy, also including a hat-trick. Brentwood School were strong in batting, but often had to contend with poor declarations by opponents, so had too many drawn games. They, too, complain that this conservative attitude in not risking defeat is far too prevalent amongst schools.

All schools have periods, especially after success, when the sides are young and immature. At Brighton, the bowling lacked penetration and the batting was unable to compensate. Magdalen College School did better than expected, and made the most of modest talents. The same story came from King's College School, Wimbledon, but they had one effective left-arm, medium-fast bowler in R. F. M. Mayes.

Dauntsey's had an encouraging season with no outstanding players. At Denstone, all the leading bowlers were slow, N. J. B. Illingworth (leg-spin), C. E. Housego (left-arm), the captain M. B. Baig (off-spin) and R. J. Burnett (unorthodox cross-breed of leg, off, and top spin) but five schools were beaten. Ellesmere were unlucky with the weather, three matches being abandoned without a ball bowled. The batting had no great flair, but several drawn games were in their favour. The captain C. D. Edwards, gave an outstanding performance against Rydal (58 and eight for 29). Eastbourne developed encouragingly, and had a successful Festival with wins over Clifton and Tonbridge. N. B. Prentis was an outstanding batsman and R. C. Leader and C. J. Lush were promising all-rounders.

The young Giggleswick side played with much courage and were only bowled out four times in 13 matches. They had an exciting tie with Hipperholme Grammar School. Mount St. Mary's gained good victories over Pocklington, Ratcliffe and Sheffield University. Sevenoaks experienced their first defeats by schools for many years. Strathallan collapsed miserably against Fettes and Merchiston, but surprisingly beat Loretto and drew against the strong Glenalmond side. Stockport Grammar School relied heavily on the batting of G. Cash, and they had notable victories against King William's, Isle of Man, and Bangor, Northern Ireland, when Cash made a brilliant 126 not out. They report sadly that the quality of the schools they play declines and less emphasis is placed on school cricket and care of wickets.

Tonbridge were rebuilding, and were pleased to win six matches. A 15-year-old opening batsman, J. C. Spurling, scored 800 runs, and the off-spinner T. R. F. Wilson was the most successful bowler. St. Lawrence College relied heavily on C. J. Haig, batsman and left-arm bowler. King's Taunton recorded five wins against schools and lost three. The two best players at King William's College, Isle of Man, were the captain, G. B. Kneale and A. H. Day. Wrekin's very young side improved. Outstanding players were M. H. Perry, who scored a century against Perse, and R. S. Dutton, genuinely fast though only 15.

The following schools all reported disappointing seasons. At Dulwich none of the chief batsmen were consistent, and the bowling lacked penetration. J. A. Biggs scored a fine century against Surrey Young Cricketers. Allhallows School contested well against strong opposition. Fielding was of a high standard and two promising opening bowlers, P. D. Thompson and R. D. Higgs, shared 70 wickets. Ardingly began well with wins against St. George's, Brighton, and Cranbrook, but then fell away owing to poor batting. The best performance at Bryanston was a good match against the powerful Millfield side, who won by three wickets. The highlight of Bradford Grammar School's season was a half-term tour to London, where they beat Eltham and lost a good match to Haberdashers' Aske's.

At Hardye's, P. Cox (slow left-arm) took his total in school cricket to 134, was also the best batsman. The wicket-keeper J. Pritchard supported him well with 15 stumpings. In a poor season at The Leys, G. P. A. Brown bowled particularly well, taking seven for 44 against Highgate, five for 33 against Oundle, and six for 79 against Wellington. Merchant Taylors, Crosby, lacked pace in their opening bowling, and depended on the spin of K. Balmforth (left-arm) and R. A. Mouldsdales (off-breaks). Reed's School, Cobham, had a poor season, with weak bowling and brittle batting.

Rugby should have done better, especially in view of the consistent batting of R. A. Palfreyman and the good bowling of J. J. H. Ripman and the captain, C. D. L. Du Cann. St. Edward's, Oxford, had a first-class batsman in M. F. Maudsley, but the bowling and fielding did not match up to strong batting. At Uppingham, the fielding was always keen. G. S. Gardiner kept wicket well and the captain, I. R. Simpkin, made over fifty eight times. His total of 848 runs is probably a record. Kimbolton had a fast bowler in the captain, T. Williams, but the batting let them down.

The Westminster team worked hard, but were not up to most of the sides they faced. P. R. Wilson, the captain, had a good season. At Culford bowling and fielding were better than batting, and J. Chilvers was a useful off-break bowler. In Dover's poor season, M. C. Sloman scored two centuries, but the bowling suffered from a surfeit of spin and shortage of medium pace. Indifferent batting at King Henry VIII School, Coventry, was improved by the bowling strength and sound fielding. The feature of Merchiston was a strong spin attack, but the batting let the side down. A. W. Knight (leg-spin) was outstanding amongst Scottish schools, and his partnership with M. R. Ball (slow left-arm) was very successful.

Hampton School were reasonably successful and their captain K. A. Revell was a good all-rounder. Hurstpierpoint started well and then lost form. The batting relied on S. Harlow, the captain, and N. Jeffery (off-spin) and G. Glenn (fast) were good bowlers. St. Edmund's School, Canterbury, had no outstanding performances. Trinity School, Croydon, did better than expected. Their batting was solid with M. J. Woodman, a left-hander outstanding, and their chief bowlers were R. M. Woodman (medium) and P. J. Gibson (slow left-arm).

William Hulme's Grammar School played their best cricket on tour, beating Allhallows and Monmouth. Warwick School had three very young players in their first four batsmen, but they were never bowled out. They had a good wicket-keeper/batsman in J. H. Owen. Rydal School experienced a fair season and M. T. Leach was selected for the Welsh Schools XI. King's Bruton were led by an increasingly mature and competent captain, M. S. Hodgkiss. The batting was sound, and M. R. Doggrell was an accurate fast bowler. Ampleforth had batting talent which did not often come off. M. K. Lucey was an outstanding wicket-keeper, and they had two good bowlers in F. O'Conner (in-swing) and C. R. Newsam (off-spin). Blundell's were a moderate side, winning three only out of nine school matches. Highlights at Abingdon were victories over Brentwood and Radley. J. Slingsby was a promising young wicket-keeper/batsman, and C. W. P. Hobson captained a good fielding side capably. Christ College, Brecon, though improving after a long lean period, never realised their full potential, but the general standard of cricket is rising. Cranleigh had a very ordinary season with variable results. Durham did better than expected, though losing five inter-schools matches. A. D. Bell (medium) took 50 wickets, average 8.5.

Epsom drew ten of their 17 matches, chiefly because their opening bowlers were missing for the first half of the season. Eton's season was "not particularly distinguished", but J. L. Rawlinson made a century against Wellington, and H. L. A. Hood against Winchester. Gordonstoun were a below average side who did better against schools than against local club sides in limited over games. Leighton Park had too many drawn games for comfort, but D. Brewer made over 400 runs and took 30 wickets, including a hat-trick.

Winchester were not very successful, but they had a good opening pair in J. J. C. Bucknall and M. C. L. Macpherson, who scored century partnerships against Tonbridge and Marlborough. Four school matches were lost, but they beat Tonbridge and Clifton at the Eastbourne Festival. Wyggeston in a mediocre season gained only two victories. They had a good batsman in M. Castleman, but the batting was inconsistent, though the bowling was always steady. The star player at Highgate was the captain, M. H. Walton (679 runs) and they gained three good victories against schools.

King Edward's, Birmingham owed much of their success to the batting of S. M. Partridge (1,054 runs, a school record) and D. A. Shuttleworth (slow left-arm, 62 wickets—more than anyone since 1891!). S. K. Lax was an outstanding all-rounder at Leeds Grammar School. He and R. C. F. Wadkin each scored a century and engaged in an opening partnership of 219 in ninety minutes against Archbishop Holgate Grammar School, York. Their leading bowler was a leg-spinner, T. J. Towler. King's School, Rochester, were rebuilding after three good seasons, and a young side was well captained by M. E. Bishop. Victoria College, Jersey had two exciting same score draws in which a batsman was dismissed by the final ball when needing one run to win the game.

At Eastbourne, Southern Schools beat The Rest by five wickets. The Rest 230 for seven dec. (I. G. Peck (Bedford) 106, S. K. Lax (Leeds) 50; M. J. C. Nicholas (Bradfield) six for 68) and 159 (Peck 48, P. R. Wilson (Rugby) three for 25, Nicholas three for 40, A. M. Fine (Clifton) three for 45); Southern Schools 244 for four dec. (M. R. Benson (Sutton Valence) 104*, T. D. W. Edwards (Sherborne) 46*, R. P. Moulding (Haberdashers') 36) and 148 for five (A. C. S. Pigott (Harrow) 55*; D. A. Riley (St. Peter's York) three for 61).

The Headmasters' Conference Schools team, picked from the above, then lost to ESCA by four wickets. HMC 186 (Lax 50; R. Heritage (Hemsworth, Yorkshire) six for 49) and 217 for six dec. (Edwards 83; J. Mountjoy (De La Salle, Salford) four for 44). ESCA 209 for five dec. (S. Packer (Cotham's Bristol) 44*, K. Tomlins (St. Benedict's Ealing) 41, P. Bainbridge (Stoke College) 39) and 197 for six (Bainbridge 72).
