SCHOOLS CRICKET IN 1990

Of the players capped for English Schools Under-19 in 1989, only M. A. Khan, T. C. Walton and A. C. Richards were available in 1990, C. J. Hawkes, T. A. Radford and R. J. Warren preferring to play for their county Second Elevens. Including the two matches at Lord's, played under the appellation of MCC Schools, fifteen players appeared for the senior Schools side. They were: G. Archer, D. P. Fulton, N. F. Gibbs, J. Hodgson, M. A. Khan, J. Laney, S. V. Laudat, I. Maynard, R. Murray, M. Rawlings, A. C. Richards (captain), J. N. Snape, T. C. Walton, Wasim Khan and W. P. C. Weston. Their schools may be found in the scorecards of matches played at the MCC Festival, Oxford.

As in other cricket arenas in 1990, the bat was dominant, and it soon became apparent from the regional trials that quality bowlers, particularly fast bowlers, were in short supply; a view confirmed at the Oxford Festival, where the majority of wickets fell to the spinners. This imbalance in the attack led to all four international matches being drawn, which was especially disappointing after MCC Schools' fine victory over a strong MCC side at Lord's and their having the best of a draw against NAYC the next day.

The batting was strong right down the order, although there was a tendency for batsmen to get out when seemingly well set. None the less, Archer, Fulton, Wasim Khan, Murray, Snape, Walton and Laney all made significant contributions, and the batting ability of the lower order was in evidence against Welsh Schools and Pakistan Young Cricketers. The main strike bowlers were Weston and Laudat but, with the exception of the Irish match, they were unable to capitalise on an initial breakthrough. The spinners were the leading wicket-takers, both Richards (off-spin) and Hodgson (leg-spin) bowling for long spells with accuracy and good variation. In a side which at times fielded quite brilliantly, Archer and Walton were outstanding, while Marcel Khan kept wicket competently and Richards captained with authority.

The first international was played against Irish Schools at Winchester College on July 26, 27. English Schools batted first, reaching 270 for nine in the allotted 60 overs with Fulton (82), Archer (50), Laney (31) and Snape (36) the main contributors. Weston's fast left-arm bowling then reduced Ireland to 23 for five, but a brave 51 from Taylor led something of a recovery to 121 all out, Weston finishing with five for 38. Following on, the Irish were 95 for five at the close, still in arrears, but the weather cut into the second day, and Ireland occupied the crease long enough in making 170 to leave English Schools only two overs in which to score 22 for victory. Five deliveries brought no run, and when 6 were needed off the last ball, only a single resulted.

At Pontarddulais on July 30, 31, Wasim Khan (105) and Fulton (68) opened with a partnership of 175 after Welsh Schools had put the English in, but some irresponsible batting further down the order led to a final total of only 228 for eight. The Welsh batting was equally disappointing, only J. R. A. Williams (36) putting up much resistance against steady bowling from Laudat (three for 24 off 15 overs) and Richards (four for 37 from 22.2) as the home side were dismissed for 152. With the exception of a positive 40 from Fulton, English Schools batted unconvincingly until an attractive partnership between Marcel Khan (34) and Laudat (39 not out) enabled Richards to declare at 190 for nine. A target of 267 in two and a half hours plus twenty overs asked a lot of the Welsh, who mustered only 149 for seven from 59 overs.

Against Scottish Young Cricketers at Aigburth, Liverpool, on August 2, 3, English Schools elected to bat on an excellent pitch in superb weather and totalled 263 for six in 60 overs. Fulton (70) was again in good form and Snape fashioned a class innings of 88. The Scots struggled against the in-swing bowling of Walton, who took six for 17 in 9.4 overs, and were all out for 128 in 46.4 overs. When the Scots followed on, however, the English attack was once again unable to repeat its earlier performance, lacking in determination somewhat, and a century from Patel and fifties from Mudie and Garden allowed the visitors the safety of a declaration at 335 for seven and a fairly academic target of 201 in 100 minutes. English Schools were 148 for four (Snape 48, Laney 51 not out) at the close.

English Schools lost their one-day game against Pakistan Young Cricketers at Beckenham on August 6 by four wickets, despite having put up a good performance against strong opponents. Unfortunately, several first-choice players were not available for the three-day fixture at Workop College on August 24, 25, 26. Given first use of a fresh pitch by Richards's decision to bat, the Pakistani seam attack reduced English Schools to 78 for six at lunch. Another wicket fell soon after, but the depth of batting showed as the last three wickets put on 100, Marcel Khan (25), Laudat (22), Rawlings (22) and especially Hodgson (48 not out) all batting with skill and application. A total of 188 looked useful when the Pakistanis also struggled against the new ball and slumped to 20 for three. However, Tariq Mehmood and Masroor Hussain steadied the innings, and Masroor went on next day to a fine 105. The English bowlers stuck to the task, though, and the visitors' lead was restricted to 75. Batting again, Maynard (64) and Archer added 106 in fine style, and with two overs of the day remaining a score of 247 for three was just reward for sensible strokeplay. However, Archer was dismissed in the penultimate over, missing by 2 runs a well-deserved century, and when in the last over Murray (61) trod on his wicket, the commanding position was gone. Needing 268 in 56 overs, the Pakistanis found themselves 127 for six, but Shakeel Ahmed (61 not out) guided them to 207 for no further loss to frustrate English hopes of victory. This fine, fluctuating game showed English Schools cricket at its best, especially in terms of sportsmanship and attitudes to opponents and umpires.

The Welsh Schools' season was dominated by the batting of the captain, D. L. Hemp, who scored a century in each innings against both Scottish Young Cricketers and Irish Schools. At Titwood, Glasgow, Scottish Young Cricketers declared at 306 for six (S. Millin 76 not out, N. McRae 54), to which Welsh Schools responded with 289 for four declared (Hemp 104 not out, B. Davies 65). Second time around, Scotland were dismissed for 204 (D. Rigby 48; R. Beaumont five for 40, Davies four for 49), whereupon Hemp struck 101 not out and Davies 41 as Wales made 225 for four for victory. At Ynysygerwn, Irish Schools were beaten by 202 runs. Batting first this time, Welsh Schools amassed 367 (Hemp 120, Williams 43, Davies 43; F. Ward three for 86, S. Taylor three for 87) before dismissing Irish Schools for 226 (S. McCready 76 not out; E. P. M. Holland four for 57) and then racing to 237 for one declared (Hemp 102 not out, A. J. Jones 106 not out). A change of batting order was of no avail to the Irish, who were bowled out for 176 (J. Kennedy 50; Davies four for 37).

HMC SOUTHERN SCHOOLS v THE REST

At Wadham College, July 15, 16. HMC Southern Schools won by three wickets. The Rest made a poor start, with two run-outs in the first half-hour contributing to the loss of four wickets for 44 as Yeabsley and Stevens bowled good opening spells. However, Walton and Kendall initiated a recovery and Murphy hit vigorously at the end. Fulton then played the best innings of the match, receiving useful support from the Southern Schools' middle order, and a significant lead looked in prospect until the off-spin of Chetwood and Snape pegged them back. When the Rest batted again, Janes made a solid 60, and with more vigorous knocks from Brand and Snape, Walton was able to set a target of 215 in 53 overs. Walker anchored the early part of Southern Schools' challenge, and a final flourish from Fulton took them to victory with seven balls to spare. The wicket-keeping was competent, Jaggard held three good catches, and the ground fielding of Fulton, Walton and Kendall stood out.

ESCA NORTH v ESCA SOUTH

At Keble College, July 15, 16. Drawn. Although ESCA North always had the better of the match, they were unable to break through the solid defence of Gibbs and Hodgson to force the win that had looked likely when ESCA South were 37 for five in pursuit of 241. Strokeplay was not easy on the slow and turning wicket, yet it was still surprising that none of the five batsmen who reached 40 in the first three innings could go on to a half-century. Bourke's off-spin and Weston's medium-fast left-arm seam bowling for the North particularly caught the eye, while Hodgson and Jacques both bowled good spells of spin for the South.

Reports from the Schools:

In a summer memorable for high scoring in county cricket, school records tumbled also. However, it is interesting to note, at a time when there has been concern over the shortening of the summer term because of exams, that a number of schools seem to be playing more matches, with the result that many schoolboy batsmen are getting more innings than in recent years. Eleven from the schools reviewed here passed 1,000 runs: C. N. Gates of Brighton (1,378 at 72.52), C. M. Jaggard (1,364 at 62.00) and A. J. Brand (1,311 at 72.83), both of Merchant Taylors', Northwood, A. R. Maddock of Plymouth College (1,128 at 86.76), J. M. Attfield of Wellingborough (1,116 at 85.84), D. P. Kerkar of Ardingly (1,102 at 61.22), D. Bowen of Enfield GS (1,089 at 64.05), K. A. Graham of King's, Macclesfield (1,075 at 76.78), G. W. White of Millfield (1,061 at 62.41), G. A. H. Awudu of Bedford Modern (1,009 at 56.05) and G. J. Kennis of Tiffin (1,008 at 72.00). Of these only Maddock played fewer than nineteen innings. No batsman recorded a three-figure average, the highest being 97.50 from 780 runs by J. M. A. Inglis of Solihull.

As runs flowed in conditions favouring batsmen, the bowlers often struggled, and a feature of the season was the high proportion of draws. Although they fared better during the poor weather of June, no bowler took 60 wickets, although twelve collected 50 or more. A. R. C. Gilmour of Merchiston Castle had the highest return with 59 at 9.45, while C. J. Evers of Royal GS Worcester was the outstanding all-rounder with 932 runs and 51 wickets. Notable individual performances included double-centuries by Brand, S. A. I. Dyer of Campbell College, R. C. Weston of The Leys and G. W. White of Millfield. N. C. L. Sinfield of Monkton Combe took all ten wickets v Dauntsey's, who were also the victims of a hat-trick by S. B. Thomas of Wycliffe. Other hat-tricks were performed by S. C. James of King's, Macclesfield, and D. C. Hindle of King's, Ely, who had two in successive matches.

Alleyn's, Ashville College, Bedford, Bradford GS, Canford and Uppingham all participated in the Sir Garfield Sobers International Schools Festival in Barbados, where Canford and Uppingham were perhaps unfortunate not to reach the final. In their semi-final v Harrison's College, Canford were well placed at 40 for three in pursuit of 93 when rain ended play. They lost the replay. The weather similarly rescued Presentation College, who, on a difficult pitch, had been reduced by Uppingham to 6 for five in reply to 66. The English school could not gain the same advantage the next day, and the Trinidad college qualified for the final, which Harrison's College won by ten wickets.

In a relatively successful season, Abingdon lost only to RGS High Wycombe in schools matches, and that after a sporting declaration. Their six wins included those v Magdalen College School, Douai and St Edward's, Oxford early in the season and University College School at the end. Frequently batting second in pursuit of a target, the batsmen had limited chances to score consistently, although the opening pair of D. E. Stanley and J. S. Tilley often provided a sound base. Although there was depth in the bowling, the lack of a top-rate spinner was evident. Highlights for Aldenham were S. P. Moffat's unbeaten 131 v Liverpool College and a return of six for 23 by M. Okoro v Mill Hill. Unbeaten in their domestic matches, Alley's enjoyed six wins, their best record for many years, while at the Sir Garfield Sobers festival in Barbados they lost only to the two eventual finalists. The batting of the captain, P. C. Berglund, was the outstanding feature of the summer, especially his 131 not out v Highgate. A. C. Winter, opening the bowling, took 38 wickets in England, plus another twelve in Barbados, and his 116 not out there v Ashville College was the highest score of the tournament. P. Haslam took 24 wickets in his first season as a leg-spinner.

Allhallows managed no wins and were beaten seven times, a disappointing record which they attributed to their batting, bowling and fielding rarely coming good at the same time. The best performance was in the narrow defeat by Exeter School, against whom J. M. Rowe made a splendid unbeaten 122 in a total of 170 for five declared. Rowe, the captain and opening bat, invariably gave the side a good start, and he bowled his off-spin intelligently to take most wickets. R. J. Gilmore was the outstanding bowler at Ampleforth, his 51 wickets including a return of seven for 54 v Sedburgh. Ardingly won more than half their matches, notably v Lancing, Sevenoaks and St George's, Weybridge, while the only defeats were by Brighton (twice) and Reigate GS. D. P. Kerkar (1,102 runs) and the captain, M. T. E. Peirce (929 runs), both passed the previous record aggregate for the school, as well as taking 38 and 34 wickets respectively. Against Worth, Peirce hit 123 not out in a total of 269 for six, whereupon C. S. Spencer took seven for 12 in eight overs to help dismiss their opponents for 43. Arnold were captained by a fifth-former, M. J. Clinning, who was their most successful cricketer, whether as batsman or off-spin bowler. The other top-order batsmen tended to get out in the twenties. I. Best, bowling at medium pace, beat the bat regularly and headed the averages. Victories were recorded v Kirkham GS, Hutton GS, Bangor GS and RGS Clitheroe. A highlight for the unbeaten Ashville College XI was an opening partnership of 215 v Bury between the brothers, A. W. and S. R. Alexander.

All fourteen matches played by Ballymena Academy GS produced a positive result, ten finishing in their favour. Low-scoring games were the norm on the soft, slow wickets of May and June: Bangor GS were dismissed for 59 (M. McGladdery four for 9) in reply to 80, Antrim GS for 56 in reply to 142, and Larne GS for 85, a total overtaken for the loss of three wickets. In a season of rebuilding, Bancroft's results did not reflect accurately the XI's cricket. Fifteen-year-old C. S. Greenhill batted with commendable concentration and determination to total 640 in his first season, just 19 short of the record aggregate, while his opening partner, T. M. Dowling, scored quickly and stylishly, in addition to keeping wicket efficiently. T. C. Dolan, the captain, and T. W. Clark also scored freely, but called on to open the bowling neither was able to produce a match-winning performance. Though somewhat under-bowled, the side's three spinners – J. P. Manning (leg-breaks and googlies), R. Patel (off-breaks) and A. A. Khan (left-arm) – took 67 wickets between them. Under the astute captaincy of M. W. R. McCord, Bangor GS enjoyed another profitable season, although inconsistent batting was of continued concern. McCord (slow left-arm) took his wickets for the school to 171 and shared 89 with R. G. Scott, a fast-medium bowler whose aggregate rose to 102. Both players represented Irish Schools.

Barnard Castle failed to live up to expectations; the potentially strong batting performed only moderately, and the bowling tended to lack penetration. Still, they won six matches, notably those v The Edinburgh Academy and St Peter's, York, and enjoyed a successful tour of Denmark. A highlight was the unbeaten hundred v RGS Newcastle by J. G. H. Murphy, who in his final year improved his school figures to 1,684 runs and 137 wickets. Bedford beat The Leys, Rugby and Repton and lost to just two schools. R. W. H. Smith scored 578 runs in his second year as captain, with excellent hundreds v MCC and Uppingham, while B. J. A. Miller, as well as keeping wicket tidily, also passed 500 runs. The lower-order also contributed, more than once seeing the side past 200 after a stuttering start. Openers R. J. Stone and M. B. Jenkins toiled manfully, though lacking penetrating pace, but Smith could call on a variety of spin. It was encouraging to see both leg-spinners, A. Focken and D. R. Fossey, operating regularly in tandem. R. M. Pape, an Under-15 fast bowler, marked his debut with five for 19 v Repton at the end-of-term festival.

Bedford Modern's excellent season contained victories over Christ's College Cambridge, St Albans, Stamford, The Leys, The Perse, Watford GS, Gentlemen of Bedfordshire and RGS Worcester, who were bowled out for 55 in reply to 224. They lost only to Scots College, from Sydney, in a 40-overs match. The captain, G. A. H. Awudu, scored 1,009 runs with four centuries, his highest being 148 v Nottingham HS, and there were two hundreds from E. R. Osborn. Two promising spinners, A. R. Woodcock (left-arm) and P. D. Brownridge, gave balance and contrast to the three strike bowlers, M. C. Waddingham (left-arm), Awudu and M. J. Rolton, and all five took 25 or more wickets. Among many noteworthy returns, Rolton took eight for 14 v Christ's College, Waddingham six for 13 v Selwyn College, and Awudu seven for 28 v Watford.

Beechen Cliff, who exceeded 200 in seven of their ten innings, finished with five wins, including those v Bristol GS, Kingswood and Lansdown CC's midweek XI. The captain, P. Tisdale, and wicket-keeper S. Bryan hit two hundreds each in four consecutive matches, and among six successive century opening partnerships was a school-record 210 between Tisdale and D. Benton v Wells Cathedral School. Bryan, whose eight innings yielded 604 runs, went on to play for Somerset Second XI. The attack was dominated by A. Piper (fast-medium) and D. Perryman (leg-spin), the only two bowlers to take ten wickets. In schools matches, Berkhamsted beat Brentwood, Mill Hill, St Albans, St Lawrence Ramsgate and – having recovered from 18 for six to 124 – Bishop's Stortford. E. P. Shek, the captain, was a consistent left-handed opening bat whose 821 runs included a brilliant 123 v Aldenham, and of the many other batsmen who contributed, D. T. Wotherspoon hit 99 in 80 minutes v Brentwood. A strong attack was spearheaded by R. D. Hilton and M. J. Spooner, with main support coming from medium-pacers J. M. Rennie and R. D. Collett (six for 28 v Kimbolton). B. P. Howard, a young left-arm spinner, gained in confidence during the term and headed the averages. A good season finished with a tour of Holland, where all three matches, played on the mat, were won.

Birkenhead, with a strong side, achieved less than might have been expected, and it was felt that most of the drawn games could have been won. L. C. Parnell, a sensible, positive captain, batted and bowled fast-medium aggressively, and N. D. Cross hit centuries in difficult conditions v King's Macclesfield and Manchester GS; against the latter, Parnell scored 50 not out and then took six for 10 in seventeen overs. The leg-spin of D. A. Allan won two matches, and all the bowlers benefited from the outstanding fielding at short leg of I. G. Berry, who held fourteen catches in eight games. Bishop's Stortford, a particularly young side, beat Kimbolton, Dean Close, Wrekin and St Edmund's, Ware, but experienced eight defeats. Unexpectedly brittle batting – an exception being E. M. Peachey's maiden hundred v MCC – and a failure to exploit several commanding positions contributed to their undistinguished record. None the less the bowling was good. R. S. Jayatileke, a Sri Lankan off-spinner, took seven for 6 v Kimbolton, and D. N. Child, the captain, had six-wicket hauls v Berkhamsted and Dean Close. With their Under-17s reaching the South final of the Barclays Bank Cup, and the majority of the First XI expected to return, the college looked to 1991 with optimism.

Bloxham, playing mostly afternoon matches, often found results elusive, particularly on their own excellent pitches, even if batsmen did not always take full advantage of them. Rendcomb, Shiplace, Dean Close and MCC were all beaten. R. D. Beaty performed well both with gloves and bat, proving especially effective in a crisis at No. 7 or No. 8. E. R. H. Wornum (fast-medium in-swing) was the leading bowler, capturing an impressive 41 wickets. With only one win in schools matches and an exciting tie v Taunton, Blundell's were left to reflect on their inability either to defend a reasonable total or to score sufficient runs. M. R. N. Hunt, the captain, had a fine season with the bat, but his 524 runs were nearly twice the next aggregate. However, a record of one victory and three defeats in thirteen matches does not do justice to the strong batting side of Bradfield College. S. P. Bridgman's 596 runs featured two successive unbeaten hundreds – v Stowe, where he mastered some fiery opening bowling, and v the Old Boys. J. T. C. Kendall, an excellent captain, set a fine example with 25 wickets and 494 runs, his 153 not out v Westminster including a hundred before lunch. His younger brother, W. S. Kendall, also passed 400 runs.

An eventful season for Bradford GS culminated in the visit to Barbados for the Sir Garfield Sobers festival in July. The high number of drawn games reflected both a lack of penetration in the bowling and relative inexperience in the batting. Five of the seven victories came in limited-overs games, as did four of the six defeats. The consistent N. J. Gomersall and the captain, D. C. Whitfield, dominated the batting, with the hard-hitting M. J. Savage and the left-handed opener, S. A. W. Davies, also contributing. Slow bowlers D. J. Collinge and M. J. Hannan (left-arm) had encouraging first seasons. Brentwood, captained by the Under-19 rugby international, C. J. Wilkins, had a poor summer, with sound batting but a mediocre attack. They were hampered by a crop of injuries to key players, as well as a loss of form by others of whom more had been expected. On the other hand Brighton College had an excellent season, winning 14 of their 22 matches and regaining the Langdale Cup when they beat Lancing by 16 runs. C. N. Gates batted superbly, his 1,378 runs being the second-highest in a season by a schoolboy after 1,534 by N. J. Lenham, also of Brighton, in 1984. Fully recovered from a fractured skull, suffered in a road accident at the end of the 1989 season, he hit four hundreds, including 178 not out v Ipswich, and won the Daily Telegraph Under-19 batting award. His opening partner and captain, R. D. Oliphant-Callum, made 832 and together they put on 222 unbroken v MCC and 265 v Ipswich. A varied attack was spearheaded by R. I. Lewis, with 45 wickets.

It was a season of rebuilding for Campbell College. D. A. Parker, an understanding captain, hit 112 not out v Banbridge Academy, as well as taking 24 economical wickets. Indeed, economy was a feature of the attack, in which four bowlers finished with single-figure averages. S. A. I. Dyer, whose 203 not out v Dungannon Royal School was a record for the college, went on to play for Irish Schools, and there were Ulster Schools honours for R. H. Lucas, the most successful bowler, Parker and C. R. M. Caves. The positive cricket played by Canford was apparent from their record of just three draws in sixteen games; Bryanston, Blundell's, the XL Club, Milton Abbey, MCC, RNCC, Wimborne CC and King's, Taunton were all defeated. The captain and opener, J. A. Perry, produced some outstanding performances with the bat, and seam bowler M. W. Forward gave the attack its edge. The real strength of the side, though, lay in the fielding, which was a key factor in their reaching the semi-finals of the Sir Garfield Sobers festival in Barbados.

With eight of Caterham's promising 1989 side in the XI again, hopes were high as the season began. However, injury prevented the captain, I. W. Armitage, from bowling, and although S. J. Constantin and S. K. Perera were steady and accurate, they had neither the support nor the penetration to put Caterham in control. K. A. Amaning overshadowed the other batsmen with his strokeplay. Benefiting from a pre-season tour to Southern Spain, a young, rather inexperienced Cheltenham XI enjoyed six wins, the most notable being v Haileybury, Pates GS, Free Foresters and St Edward's, Oxford – all achieved when batting second. They were ably led by B. B. Jones, and if his batting was generally disappointing, he did make a fine 102 v Free Foresters. Other hundreds came from two young players, M. C. Cawdron (114 not out v Malvern) and D. R. Hewson (109 v Dean Close). Cawdron, a left-hand opening bat and medium-pace out-swing bowler, collected 578 runs and 23 wickets and with Hewson (412 runs and, with off-breaks, 18 wickets) was selected for West of England Under-15. Hewson later played for England Under-15. D. R. Fulton again took the most wickets with his sharp in-swing, while M. C. Green's seven for 43, bowling left-arm medium, set up the win v St Edward's.

Chigwell's season was built around their Essex Under-19 all-rounders, P. C. Harvey (left-hand bat, right-arm medium) and J. F. Carpenter (right-hand bat, left-arm medium-fast), who provided 1,289 runs and 76 wickets. Harvey hit hundreds v Bancroft's (102 not out off 79 balls), Forest (126) and Wellingborough (119), and had figures of seven for 11 in 6.3 overs v City of London and six for 17 off ten v St Edmund's. Other highlights were a first-ever win v Bishop's Stortford; the defeat of Bancroft's, in which Harvey hit three sixes and fifteen fours in taking his side to 202 from 23 overs in 86 minutes; and the win v Forest, when Chigwell totalled a school-record 292 for seven, to which Harvey and D. R. Evans (96) contributed a record fifth-wicket stand of 182. Other wins were v City of London, Enfield GS, St Edmund's, Latymer and William Hulme's GS, while in schools matches they lost only to Magdalen College School. After a useful start, the Christ College, Brecon XI, which had promised so much at Under-17 level, failed to muster the cohesion and determination either to press home an advantage or to save the game. It was felt that the side was too confident and easy-going. Head and shoulders above the rest was the captain, E. P. M. Holland, who again won three caps for Welsh Schools as a fast bowler who can bat.

Clayesmore's young side performed better than anticipated, losing only three schools matches and achieving some excellent wins, in particular those v Allhallows and King Edward VI, Southampton. They owed much to the leadership and example of their captain, P. Bradbury, who headed both averages and was judged best batsman at the Bearwood festival. There were also noteworthy bowling performances from the young off-spinner, L. Coley, especially his six for 41 v the XL Club. Clifton's record eight wins included victories v Colston's, Blundell's, Marlborough, Tonbridge and Winchester in schools games. The captain, J. R. A. Williams's aggregate of 935 runs passed C. M. Trembath's record of 767 in 1979 and included hundreds v Rugby, Marlborough, Tonbridge and MCC. Against Rugby, he and J. P. Parish shared a second-wicket partnership of 250. M. G. N. Windows hit 127 v Millfield on his way to an aggregate of 649 runs, while B. M. O. Gibbs, at fast-medium, was the most successful bowler. Williams played for Welsh Schools Under-19 and captained their Under-16s.

Colfe's, an inexperienced side, worked hard and performed creditably. Even so, they depended heavily on three all-rounders: M. Horder, the captain, M. Quilter and wrist-spinner J. Gledhill-Carr. Of the younger players, T. Shoben and A. Hameed showed run-scoring potential, but as yet lacked consistency, while it was hoped that E. Gratwick (fast-medium) and R. Dennis (off-spin) would develop and strengthen the attack. In a moderately successful season Colston's beat King Edward's Bath, Prior Park, Bristol Cathedral School, Truro School and Christ College, Brecon. The captain, J. A. Franklin, I. J. Webb and M. J. Sheedy all scored centuries, with Franklin's 144 v Bristol Cathedral School, 136 v Kingswood and 186 v Hutton GS helping him to a school record aggregate of 906 runs. Cranleigh's positive approach brought them wins v the Cryptics, Eastbourne, Cranleigh Village, Epsom and Loretto. Defeats were by MCC, Lancing, King's Canterbury, St John's Leatherhead and Merchant Taylors', Northwood. The high standard of ground fielding was especially noteworthy, as were figures of eight for 44 and six for 44 by H. C. Watkinson and seven for 32 v Epsom by G. B. Atkinson. The batsmen were always looking for runs, but there were few dominating innings.

Dauntsey's, building afresh, began the season tentatively and at half-term were still looking for their first win. The XL Club obliged, after A. N. Field (fast-medium) had taken six for 72, and three more victories followed in the last four matches. The batting was strengthened by newcomer I. D. Hardman, a left-hander, whose 103 v King Edward's, Bath was the only hundred. D. P. Atkins (slow left-arm) took six for 52 on a responsive pitch v Kingswood and Field returned seven for 44 v Wycliffe, who won an exciting game by one wicket in the last over. Under the captaincy of G. M. Gaiger, a good spirit was maintained, even during the frustrating early weeks. Dean Close, if somewhat disappointing in terms of results, provided some exciting cricket. Neither of their Gloucestershire Under-19 representatives, C. J. Townsend, the captain, and C. S. Knightley, quite lived up to expectations, although Townsend played some good innings and Knightley, batting left-handed and bowling right-arm medium pace, made a useful all-round contribution. J. M. Bowditch, if not yet accurate enough with the new ball, had his moments.

The young Denstone XI, unbeaten and never bowled out, should perhaps have achieved more than four victories – v Wrekin, Old Denstonians, Abbot Beyne and King Edward's, Birmingham. While not quite reproducing his form of 1989, the captain, J. N. Snape, did hit an impressive unbeaten 128 v Worktop and provided seven other fifties. He went on to play for Northamptonshire Second XI and English Schools, and also captained England Under-17 against the touring Pakistanis. Dover College began with victory over the Duke of York's Royal Military School, but thereafter won only once more. Weak bowling again put undue pressure on the batsmen, among whom A. S. Burrell showed resolution as an opener and S. J. Schilder played some handsome strokes. The captain, D. M. Rouse, though scoring far fewer runs than in 1989, finished his school days with a total of 1,586. It was the opposite at the Duke of York's Royal Military School where, with batsmen losing their wickets in a premature attempt to push the score along, they struggled to compile big totals. On the other hand, the bowlers performed with great credit. G. J. Kennett purveyed his leg-spin with commendable enterprise and looked to give the ball air, while D. J. Reynolds's left-arm swing was always threatening. He returned six for 20 as St Edmund's, Canterbury were bowled out in pursuit of a total of 120. Of the batsmen, N. M. Conway demonstrated a sound technique and showed promise as a wicket-keeper, while the captain, C. N. Conway, generated a good team spirit and led by example in the field.

A record of three wins and five defeats for Dulwich College is a little misleading, for three of those losses were sustained while four leading players were on a rugby tour of Australia. Highlights were the defeat of King's, Canterbury and J. H. Potter's 115 v Epsom. The left-handed R. S. Sheldon, captain of the XI, headed the batting. Durham began the season by winning their first three games, but defeat by Pocklington on a damp wicket was followed by several drawn games which should have been won. The talented Weston brothers were the mainstay of the side: the captain, W. P. C., opening the batting and bowling, contributed 527 runs and 30 wickets, while his younger brother, R. M. S., opening bat and leg-spinner, scored 643 runs and took 22 wickets. Philip Weston played for English Schools and was chosen to tour New Zealand with England Young Cricketers in 1990-91, and Robin, the England Under-15 captain, received the Sir Jack Hobbs England Under-16 all-round award. Highlights were a nine-wicket win v St Peter's, York and the school's appearance for the third time in five years in the final of the Barclays Bank Under-17 Cup; they were beaten by Richard Huish VI Form College, Taunton.

At Eastbourne College the skill and good sense of the captain, A. J. T. Halliday, made for a cheerful, well-motivated side. Potentially gifted young cricketers were encouraged to play some exciting cricket, seen noticeably in the wins v Tonbridge, Christ's Hospital and King's, Canterbury. Halliday's 114 v Christ's Hospital and B. H. Miller's unbeaten 100 v St John's, Leatherhead were major batting moments, while the best performance with the ball was E. G. R. Barrett's return of seven for 13 v Stragglers of Asia. Highlight of an erratic season at the Edinburgh Academy was the exciting two-wicket win v Glenalmond, and there were interesting games v Barnard Castle and Scots College, Sydney, the latter winning by just 1 run. J. N. K. Godfrey's captaincy became more enterprising as the season developed, while the innings of 152 v Kelvinside by his fellow-opener, R. W. Cairns, was the highest for the Academy in twenty years. In a season of rebuilding, Elizabeth College, Guernsey were content with a record of eight wins, those v Malta and Victoria College, Jersey being particular highlights. Notable individual performances came from the captain, P. J. A. Moody, whose 50 wickets included seven for 30 v Latymer and six for 48 v Victoria, and T. Hollyer-Hill, who scored 103 not out v Reed's in an aggregate of 617 runs.

Ellesmere College beat five sides, including a strong MCC XI, and were one wicket away from a comfortable victory in three of their drawn games. G. N. Phillips (fast-medium) returned seven for 41 v Shrewsbury, and his opening partner, J. G. Slater (fast), took five for 12 v Liverpool College. Eltham's strong batting line-up was headed by the consistent left-handed opener, J. M. Ramsey, but their bowling, while capable of containment, struggled to bowl sides out. The college were Kent Cup finalists for the second successive season; in the semi-finals, the captain and leading wicket-taker, F. Kavina (leg-spin), took six for 27 v Judd. Emanuel enjoyed an outstanding season, their nine victories including the finals of both the London and Surrey Cup competitions. In the former they recovered from 34 for four in rain-affected conditions to pass Allyn's 101 with an over to spare; in the latter, a boundary in the last over brought a two-wicket win v KCS Wimbledon. J. C. Cole deputised admirably in the absence, for much of the season, of the captain and all-rounder, M. D. Coe.

After losing two of their first three matches, Enfield never looked like losing again until late July. Wins v Hampton, Forest and Scots College, Sydney, and the draws v Haberdashers' Aske's and Merchant Taylors', Northwood, were season's highlights. D. Bowen became the first batsman to score 1,000 runs in a season for the school; of his three centuries, his unbeaten 196 v Reigate GS included a hundred before lunch. Other three-figure innings were played by N. Clydesdale and the captain and wicket-keeper, J. King. N. Lutwyche (off-spin) and M. Stevens (left-arm medium) made a contrasting attack and took 56 and 40 wickets respectively. Epsom College won six of their ten matches, including those v St George's Weybridge, Christ's Hospital and – scoring 261 with one ball to spare – KCS Wimbledon. T. R. Newton, a left-handed all-rounder, took 33 wickets, including six for 18 v Lancing, and hit out strongly, while P. E. Roche and N. A. Morris provided the backbone of the batting, the latter playing the side's only three-figure innings.

A record of three wins and three defeats does not do full credit to a good Eton side, unbeaten against schools in term and losing only to Eton Ramblers and, in the Silk Trophy festival, to hosts Radley and Shrewsbury. The wins were v St Edward's Oxford, Cranbrook and Harrow at Lord's, where Eton's batsmen played to potential and Harrow were outplayed. J. M. S. Whittington, in his first season, took 49 wickets with his left-arm slow bowling and went on to take 22 more for Berkshire Schools and win the Daily Telegraph Under-19 bowling award. In his first schools match for the XI he had figures of 7.3-4-3-8 v St Edward's. The XI was led with rare commitment by all-rounder H. J. P. Chetwood, though in part at the expense of his off-spin bowling. Exeter School achieved three of their seven wins on an end-of-term tour to Hereford and Brecon. A consistent batting line-up was headed by D. R. Gannon, whose last two innings produced centuries, while the captain, M. J. Stevenson, bore the brunt of the bowling when injury to M. H. T. Jones (medium-fast) disrupted the attack. However, J. R. Price (slow left-arm) returned good figures on the tour.

It was a disappointing season for Fettes, who rarely looked like winning and were beaten eight times. One bright spot was the bowling of the captain, J. R. S. Lloyd, who repeatedly took five wickets in an innings, to finish with 43, and looked a fine prospect. Forest won six and lost five of their sixteen fixtures. The distraction of A levels possibly affected the performance of their leading players; the captain, A. C. Richards's aggregate was half that of 1989, for example. Even so, he, P. O'Neill (medium) and wicket-keeper A. Heyes all made major contributions, along with the left-arm spinner, J. Dwyer, who emerged as the leading wicket-taker. Richards went on to captain English Schools and was offered a summer contract for 1991 by Essex, having played for their Second XI in 1990. Under the captaincy of B. Smyth, Foyle and Londonderry College won fourteen of their eighteen matches and finished the season as joint holders of the Gordon McCullough Memorial Cup. Their strong attack was spearheaded by J. Brown, who took seven for 19 v Coleraine Academic Institution and, with Smyth and J. McFarland, was selected for Ulster Schools. These three, with T. Dougherty, were the essence of the side's batting strength. Six of Framlingham's eight wins came in a run that ended with their only loss – to Kimbolton at the St Lawrence, Ramsgate festival. Success came from their all-round strength: N. I. Barker, S. E. Iliffe, the captain, and W. J. Earl scored consistently, while the opening attack of M. J. Rutterford and J. G. C. Townsend was balanced effectively by the slow left-arm bowling of P. Edwards.

Giggleswick beat Hipperholme GS, Oakwood and the Old Boys, but generally struggled to bowl sides out. Glenalmond's young, competitive side were moderately successful in an enjoyable season. Highlights were a fine century v Strathallan by S. C. Scott Elliot and his opening partnership of 158 with J. D. Thomson v Fettes. The captain, R. M. Jebb, bowled leg-spin to good effect for 31 wickets, while the medium pace of J. C. Caldwell provided a further 27. With Gordonstoun's senior players in particularly lean form, 1990 was not a vintage year. Poor weather in June led to several matches being cancelled, which, combined with the pressure of exams, meant the season ended on an unsatisfactory note. A highlight for Grenville College was their win v rivals West Buckland, against whom R. S. Hann took six for 28. The batting was headed by S. Blakers, an Australian, the consistent J. F. T. Pallister and D. R. Ellacott, who had an outstanding season behind the stumps. Seam bowlers took the most wickets, and a newcomer to the XI, M. J. Graham, though erratic, was fast and hostile. Gresham's, though not playing to their true potential for much of the season, finished in fine style with resounding victories v Oakham and Bromsgrove. The individual highlight was an innings of 141 by the captain, I. D. Barnett, v The Leys.

Haberdashers' Aske's were unbeaten. B. Moore (the captain), M. I. Yeabsley and R. Thacker, the top three in the order, made 2,121 between them, with Moore and Yeabsley putting on 225 unbroken for the first wicket v Queen Elizabeth's, Barnet, and three days later, in their next match, opening with 171 v Berkhamsted before being parted. Against Queen Elizabeth's, Yeabsley's younger brother, R. S. Yeabsley, returned eight for 29. The bowling honours were shared between the two brothers, Michael bowling off-spin and Richard medium-fast, supported by Moore (medium). Both Yeabsleys represented Hertfordshire Under-19 and Richard played for Middlesex Second XI and for Devon in the NatWest Bank Trophy; Moore played for Middlesex Young Cricketers and Thacker for Middlesex Under-17. Hampton enjoyed four successive wins in May, only for a frustrating string of draws to follow. S. C. Janes and J. E. Sudbury blended sound defence with attacking flair in a successful opening partnership, while seamer S. A. H. Cochrane produced match-winning spells v Latymer and RGS Guildford. The hostility of J. A. Scowen with the new ball and the increasing control of left-arm spinner J. E. Saunders promised well for the future. In schools matches, Harrow beat Bedford and St Edward's, Oxford, and lost only to Eton and Zimbabwe Schools; otherwise results were hard to come by on the good, dry wickets of 1990. An unbeaten century by C. E. Williams v Radley was the batting highlight, while among the bowlers R. E. Sexton took 40 wickets in his first season.

The Harvey GS recorded fourteen victories and won the Lemon Cup for Kent schools for a record seventh time. They owed much to their opening bowlers, R. J. N. Davis and A. W. Morris (both medium), who took 56 and 50 wickets respectively and were well supported in the field. Highgate enjoyed their best season in terms of wins since 1971, thanks particularly to the bowling of T. Gladwin and M. Sylvester, plus some steady batting. Thirteen-year-old E. Gladwin showed much promise with 50 on debut, v MCC, and an average of 38.66 from his three innings. The relatively young side of Hurstpierpoint beat Seaford, Worth, Whitgift, St John's, Eastbourne and Ellesmere in schools matches, and the Under-17s reached the last four of the Barclays Bank Cup. P. T. Wicker, who hit an unbeaten 100 v St George's, and M. J. Semmence, the captain, were selected for Sussex Young Cricketers. M. J. King, who bowled some brisk spells, took the most wickets, including seven for 35 v Ellesmere; their other three wickets fell for 5 runs to Semmence. Ipswich continued their success of 1989, winning five games, losing only once, and finishing the season in style with victory v Dutch Colts at The Hague. The steady batting and leg-spin bowling of R. Catley stood out, while the seam bowling of C. Earley made its mark late on. J. Douglas, in his first season, made hundreds v The Perse and Brighton College, and also headed the bowling averages.

Kelly College, a young side, acquitted themselves well, though occasionally betraying their inexperience. They could bat right down the order – C. P. Insole, the captain, was the most impressive of the batsmen – and only one opposing team exceeded 175 against a steady attack built around J. J. Wood (medium), W. G. Pendrill (left-arm medium) and I. J. Saunders, a promising leg-spinner. Their best victories were v Exeter School and Truro School. Kimbolton, disappointing in terms of results, had a successful season in terms of development and attitude, with excellent wins v Berkhamsted and Framlingham providing reward and optimism. The captain, R. J. T. Ramplly, a left-hander, headed the batting and forged a useful opening partnership with S. G. Wood, a fine wicket-keeper. The bowling was spearheaded by I. Prideaux (fast-medium), who operated with ideal control and pace. The experienced, well-balanced XI at King Edward VI College, Stourbridge, characterised by all-round team effort and fine catching, featured in some exciting finishes. Three of their six wins came in the last over, and close of play in four of the six draws found their opponents' last pair at the crease.

First-ever wins v Canford and St George's, Weybridge were highlights for King Edward VI, Southampton, who won eight other matches, retained the Altham Trophy and lost only to Brighton in schools fixtures. B. Quantrill proved to be an able captain, and while his steady batting was well supported by R. T. Markham, it fell to a fourth-form boy, G. R. Treagus, to play the only three-figure innings. The left-arm spinner, R. M. Salter, again exceeded 50 wickets. A difficult season for the young side of King Edward VII, Lytham brought no wins, but there were close draws v Arnold and King's, Macclesfield, to suggest the potential for 1991. The captain, P. Macauley, a left-hander, played quality strokes on occasions, and his opening partner, G. Maitland, a promising Under-15 player, headed the averages. P. Young (medium-fast) bowled tirelessly without having much luck or reward. King Edward's, Birmingham were pleased to win more matches than they lost at a time when the attack, with the exception of the captain, M. M. Dean, was expected to be only average. The bowling of C. D. Atkin was a bonus. As anticipated, the batting was sound, and an unbroken tenth-wicket stand of 112 v Solihull between N. M. Linehan (81 not out), a colt, and D. A. Bhadri (50 not out) was an unusual highlight.

King's College, Taunton were well captained by W. J. K. Greswell, who had two fine centuries amongst his 625 runs, while the openers, R. E. Berry and C. P. W. Cashell, scored 72 and 93 respectively in a school record opening stand of 178 to beat Blundell's by ten wickets. With most of the XI due to return in 1991, it was an encouraging season. At King's College School, Wimbledon, meanwhile, J. Parrish and captain R. Q. Cake formed an opening partnership that few could rival, scoring 833 and 927 runs respectively. H. S. Malik was another to pass 600, while of the bowlers A. M. Denslow (fast-medium) captured 47 wickets in his first season. Cake's sensible but sporting declarations made for some exciting cricket, notably v Epsom (q.v.). King's, Bruton beat Taunton School, Canford, Milton Abbey and Queen's, Taunton, losing only to the Old Boys. With seven of the side expected to return in 1991, prospects are good. Five wins were more than might have been expected by King's Canterbury. Their inexperienced batting was always likely to be a problem, and indeed several defeats resulted from batting collapses, but their difficulties were compounded by an injury to their opening bowler, M. I. G. Wilkinson. His absence from all but five matches considerably weakened the attack. The well-balanced King's, Chester XI recorded ten victories, were unbeaten by schools and lost, in the last over, only to a strong MCC side.

King's, Ely also won ten games, the most memorable of which was the 1-run victory v The Leys in the final of the Cambridgeshire County Cup. They lost to just one school. D. C.

Hindle, their captain, claimed a hat-trick in successive matches – v Woodbridge (all bowled) and v King's, Peterborough – and in taking seven wickets in the final match he equalled the school record of 49 in a season. C. Q. Taylor, an opening bat, hit hundreds in successive matches, and A. M. Gallop's 143 not out v King Edward's (King's Lynn) was Ely's best for some time. Undefeated by schools for the first time in recent memory, King's, Macclesfield lost only to MCC and beat Bury GS, the Masters' XI, William Hulme's, Arnold, Bolton School, Bury GS, Ipswich School and Brighton College. Their Australian opening batsman, K. A. Graham, was outstanding, his 1,075 runs passing by 83 the school record set in 1981 by P. Moores, the Sussex wicket-keeper. The attack was led by S. C. James (fast-medium) whose six for 32 v William Hulme's included a hat-trick, and M. R. Palmer, who opened at fast-medium but could also ply off-breaks. The batting of King's, Rochester was dominated by M. J. Walker, whose 872 runs included 156 not out v Chatham House, 143 not out v the XL Club, 105 v Maidstone GS and 124 v KCR Common Room. He also took the most wickets (28) and went on to play for Kent Second XI and England Under-17 v Pakistan Young Cricketers. King's, Worcester did not play as well as anticipated, injuries and exams affecting the form of at least two senior players. However, R. Tomlinson, captain and wicket-keeper, passed 500 runs for the second successive season, and there was a feeling of satisfaction when A. Thompson, having hitherto struggled for runs, hit an unbeaten century v Reigate on the end-of-season tour to Victoria College, Jersey.

Kingston GS, a young XI, made good progress; they won five games, and three of their eight defeats came in the last over. The captain, E. S. Gratton, batted consistently well, his 120 not out v RGS Guildford lifting the side from 91 for eight. With the ball, M. E. Bendel (fast-medium) began the season in fine form, only to incur a back injury, and the lack of a good spin bowler was a further handicap. Kingswood's batsmen hit a record number of three hundreds, with the captain, G. J. B. Williams's 156 not out in 140 minutes v Colston's a school best. Unfortunately, moderate bowling resources meant that batting dominance was only thrice converted into victory. The attack of King William's College, Isle of Man had similar limitations, with openers N. C. Capewell and D. R. Norman failing to fulfil earlier promise. However, L. R. Clarke, a young medium-pace bowler, responded well to additional responsibility. The batting relied heavily on a solid start from the openers, M. L. Craine, the captain, and U. A. Nwachuku, an Under-15 colt.

Following a tour to Australia at Easter, Lancing had a reasonable season, reaching the final of the Langdale Cup, only to lose to Brighton College. S. Baker dominated with bat and ball, bowling at a lively pace for his 34 wickets and including a fine century v Worth in his 934 runs. For the first time the college were hosts to Malvern, Charterhouse and Rugby in the end-of-term festival. Not surprisingly, the main contributor for unbeaten Leeds GS was their captain and all-rounder, T. C. Walton, who scored 545 runs, took 49 wickets and went on to play for English Schools and England Under-17 v the touring Pakistanis. A fourteen-year-old left-hander, I. C. Sutcliffe, developed promisingly as an opening bat, but while R. M. Atkinson bowled his left-arm spin to good effect, Leeds, like many schools, simply could not bowl sides out to exploit winning situations. Pre-eminent at The Leys was their left-handed opening bat, R. C. Weston, who set three new school records. His aggregate of 988 runs passed the 977 scored in 1984 by J. D. R. Benson of Leicestershire; his 202 v The Perse (three sixes, 21 fours) overtook Benson's 201 not out in 1983; and he shared in a record opening partnership of 219 with M. C. Donnor (82) v the XL Club, going on to 163 not out. Weston scored 692 runs in June, and missed the opportunity of totalling 1,000 for the season when the school's last match was abandoned. Donnor, a Cambridgeshire Under-16 representative, scored 607 runs and took 23 wickets with his leg-spin. D. J. Woods, the wicket-keeper, captained Cambridgeshire Under-17.

Initial promise tailed off into disappointment for Liverpool College as technical weaknesses, to some extent countered earlier in the season by spirit and determination, were exposed by stronger sides. Only J. Q. Harrington, the captain, and the left-handed B. Latto scored consistently. With the ball, J. Rushton (medium) bowled steadily, J. Rylance (fast-medium) showed potential, and Harrington sometimes bowled his leg-breaks to good effect. Llandoverly College, unbeaten by schools, won half their matches and lost only to Pontyberem CC. Their strength lay in the batting, headed by S. A. Richards, who batted with style and maturity and proved to be an excellent captain. He also led the Welsh Independent Schools. On May's hard wickets, runs flowed, but rain and exams made June a difficult month. B. Rowlands developed encouragingly as an all-rounder, and his left-arm fast-medium bowling was supported by G. D. A. Lyddon-Jones and H. G. Davies (both medium-fast). Lord Wandsworth College, with seven wins to set against a solitary defeat, owed their success to the opening attack of N. P. B. Rochford and J. R. Cowles. Both showed genuine pace and hostility and, sharing 71 wickets, contributed to the dismissal of four sides for less than 100. The captain, D. A. Robinson, chipped in with 24 wickets from off-breaks. Though the batting was seldom tested, fifteen-year-old B. A. Hames opened the innings stylishly and scored the first hundred for the school in three years.

Loretto's young side did well on the local circuit, losing only to Merchiston Castle and beating Strathallan (all out for 47), Glenalmond (for 54), Fettes, George Watson's and Stewart's Melville; but their record was dented during their festival when the batting, capable in pursuit of low scores, proved more brittle. Defeats by Bryanston, Cranleigh and Rossall outweighed the win v St Peter's, York. A. C. F. Mason (left-arm fast) bowled consistently well, with figures of six for 31 v Stewart's Melville and four for 9 v Strathallan contributing to the 81 wickets he shared with the captain, J. A. G. Grant (medium). Two left-handers, C. J. Hawkes and G. Leeson, were the outstanding cricketers at Loughborough GS. Leeson, opening the batting, hit four hundreds in his 808 runs, while Hawkes contributed 611 runs and 48 wickets. Hawkes played for Leicestershire Second XI and at the end of the season made his County Championship debut v Derbyshire. Friars of Derby, Old Loughburians, Leicestershire Gentlemen, the XL Club, King Henry VIII Coventry, and Bablake (bowled out for 48; J. Simpson seven for 13), were all beaten; the one defeat came in the final over v RGS Worcester.

Enterprising cricket earned Magdalen College School ten victories. Among the four batsmen who passed 500 runs, M. B. Bixby and fifteen-year-old N. S. Hawken, scoring 110 and 100 respectively, put on 212 unbroken for the second wicket v Reading School. S. D. Stinchcombe (off-spin) again took the most wickets, ably assisted by the wicket-keeping of the captain, T. H. Boyles, whose 34 dismissals included a school record of seventeen stumpings. Malvern College, in their second-best season since the war, were unbeaten by schools and defeated Shrewsbury, Marlborough, Dean Close and Cheltenham, against whom they successfully chased 250 in two and a half hours. There were hundreds from P. V. Sykes and J. W. A. Horton, the captain, while a good seam quartet was spearheaded by C. R. Phillips. S. J. C. Ferguson, an able wicket-keeper, could put aside the gloves to bowl leg-breaks when required.

Reservations about the inexperienced batting of Manchester GS seemed justified when they were bowled out for 119 by Rossall in their first match. However, revealing fine character, they improved to beat Bradford GS, Liverpool College, Arnold, William Hulme's, Bury GS (twice) and King Edward VII, Lytham, losing again only to Bangor GS and Pocklington. The batting relied heavily on M. J. P. Ward, who followed scores of 96 not out v Shrewsbury and 98 v RGS Lancaster with 106 not out v William Hulme's, 104 v Taunton and 145 not out v Bury to total 962 runs. L. J. Marland, promoted from the Under-14s to open with Ward, possessed a sound technique but as yet lacked the power to dominate. The bowling was opened by N. S. Farmer and M. C. Jones, who was often too fast for opposing batsmen, while Ward and Marland, in their differing styles, provided variety with off-spin. The XI were ably led by A. M. Dodd. For Marlborough, 1990 was a disappointing season. Their batting was sound enough, but they bowled just one side out and managed only a single win - v St Edward's, Oxford. The fielding of J. Simkins and the potential all-round talent of M. E. C. Harris were noteworthy.

Merchant Taylors', Crosby reported an unspectacular but enjoyable season in which morale was good under the captaincy of G. S. Glynne-Jones. However, his inability to bowl, owing to injury, weakened the attack. Only three sides were dismissed, and there were heavy defeats at the hands of Leeds GS and RGS Lancaster. Glynne-Jones contributed soundly with the bat, though, to head the averages, and the Doggett brothers looked promising prospects. Merchant Taylors', Northwood numbered St Albans, Highgate, Watford GS, Aldenham, University College School, Dulwich, Stowe, Mill Hill, Cranleigh and Bryanston among their record twelve wins. A. J. Brand, the captain, passed 1,000 runs for the second successive season, but was beaten to the mark by opener C. M. Jaggard, whose 1,364 runs, including five centuries, fell 33 short of J. E. Raphael's record aggregate of 1,397 in 1901. Brand's 202 not out v Cranleigh in the Loretto festival improved by 1 run the school record he established the previous year. They and R. A. Hawkey, who scored 975 runs, made a formidable top three.

Merchiston Castle, under the captaincy of G. C. Wearmouth, were undefeated by Scottish schools and won v Dollar Academy, George Heriot's, Glenalmond, Dundee HS, Loretto, Strathallan, Fettes and the strong Durham XI (by 97 runs after recovering from 41 for six to declare at 199 for nine). The only schools to beat them were Barnard Castle and RGS Newcastle. In a strong seam attack, A. R. C. Gilmour's excellent line-and-length medium pace brought him 59 wickets, including five for 17 and five for 30 in the two-day game v Fettes. His opening partner, A. A. L. Ramsay, B. R. S. Eriksson, able to swing the ball both ways, and D. W. Hodge (in-swing) lent admirable and accurate support. For Millfield, G. W. White became only the third player to score 1,000 runs for the school, his 1,061 including 200 not out v Welsh Schools and 104 v Somerset Second XI. He was followed in the batting by the captain, N. F. Gibbs, who headed the bowling and represented English Schools.

Mill Hill's young side were without a win until the end-of-term festival, where they beat Norwich, Warwick and Plymouth. A colt, D. M. J. Kraft, was the most successful batsman, while the bowling again relied heavily on the slow left-arm skills of the captain, G. E. S. Brock. Although they had no outstanding players, Milton Abbey's strength in depth helped them beat St John's Southsea, Clayesmore, Allhallows and Portsmouth GS, the last-mentioned victory coming when Portsmouth, chasing 187, collapsed from 166 for three to 184 all out. In contrast, Monkton Combe's season was notable more for individual performances. N. C. L. Sinfeld took all ten for 39 in 15.1 overs v Dauntsey's, although he never quite bowled his medium-pace in-swing to such good effect again, and T. Simmons, the captain, compiled a school-record aggregate of 630 runs. His 100 not out v the XL Club was the first hundred for the XI since 1971, and S. Lockyer followed it with another unbeaten century in the eight-wicket win v Fettes at the St Paul's festival. The inexperience of Monmouth's bowling told in their record of ten draws in fifteen games. A. J. Jones, by far the most successful batsman, scored 136 v Wellingborough School and, along with J. H. Langworth, played for Welsh Schools. P. A. Clitheroe's leading aggregate of 31 wickets included six for 49 in the six-wicket victory v Colston's.

Newcastle-under-Lyme, unbeaten, experienced little difficulty in bowling sides out. I. Bradbury was their most successful bowler, and wicket-keeper R. M. Davis enjoyed another distinguished season. With the bat M. H. Colclough, an England Under-15 representative, and J. N. Britton both averaged over 70, scoring 100 each v Royal Wolverhampton as they put on a record 219 for the third wicket. The excellent attitude and team spirit of Nottingham HS made for an enjoyable and moderately successful season; the high proportion of drawn games was attributed to the good batting wickets and some sides setting safe targets. However, there were a number of exciting finishes, none more so than in the 100th fixture v Trent College (Nottingham 174 for eight dec., Trent 174 for nine).

Oakham's disappointing record stemmed from a lack of application among their batsmen, of whom only N. C. Kingham, the captain, and P. M. J. Webb were consistent enough. M. Cullen and Kingham were the pick of the bowlers, invariably bowling a good line and length. Hard work and team spirit brought success to The Oratory XI, whose ten wins included those v Magdalen College School, Pangbourne College, St Edmund's, Reading School, Berkshire Gentlemen, the XL Club and Emeriti. J. D. Clarke and D. Olszowski both passed 500 runs, with a century apiece; Clarke hit 125 v Abingdon and Olszowski 101 v Reading in a total of 206 for five from 28 overs. Although the attack lacked the incisive edge of recent years, four bowlers took twenty wickets each. A young Oundle side, well led by A. Lee, also played with fine team spirit. They beat The Leys, Oakham, Oundle Rovers, Northamptonshire Amateurs and St Edward's, Oxford, losing only to Felsted (in an overs match) and at the end of the season to Uppingham. A highlight was the fast-medium bowling of A. Richardson v Repton, taking six for 43 in a skilful display.

The Perse again showed themselves capable of scoring prolifically, passing 200 on five occasions, and once going on to 303 for four only to be beaten by The Leys. This illustrates their bowlers' lack of penetration and accuracy; unable to capitalise on their batting strength, the side went without a win. D. Crabb completed three excellent seasons behind the stumps and both E. W. H. Wiseman and R. T. Ragnauth showed promise with the bat. B. J. G. Edgar, an England Under-18 hockey international, scored 158 v Bishop's Stortford - the fourth time in two seasons the school record had been beaten. For their ten victories, set against a single defeat, Plymouth College owed much to the magnificent batting of A. R. Maddock, whose 1,128 runs at 86.76 included five centuries. He received sound support from any number of batsmen, all of whom could have scored more runs had the need arisen. The absence for much of the season of S. W. Nicholson and A. Ginster left a gap in the attack, although S. D. Hunt and K. J. Willcock bowled well to share 71 wickets. Portsmouth GS did not quite live up to expectations, with only five wins in fifteen games. The captain, J. P. Osborne, and C. J. Ward both passed 500 runs, while opening bowlers J. R. Compton and H. Rushin took their wickets at a reasonable strike-rate. Inexperience and ill fortune affected Prior Park, who had hoped for more than four wins from potentially their best side for a decade. They played to a high standard and were captained with maturity by G. Lee, who provided the self-belief missing in some of the younger players. J. Power included the side's only hundred in his 744 runs, an aggregate not surpassed in recent years, while Lee twice went close to three figures in compiling 595 runs; he also took 35 wickets with his off-spin. J. Smithers's 36 wickets were an excellent return for a seam bowler at the college.

Carried along by a great team spirit, Queen Elizabeth GS, Wakefield enjoyed their best season for many years, winning three games and finishing "moral winners" in six of their nine draws. Much depended on the all-rounder, R. J. Ledger, and opening bat P. M. Dickinson; it was significant that the only defeat – v Woodhouse Grove – came when neither performed to potential. Highlight in a successful season for Queen Elizabeth's Hospital was the eight-wicket victory v local rivals, Colston's; in other regular schools matches only the powerful Queen's, Taunton side beat them. D. C. Taylor, bowling left-arm wrist-spin, captured the most wickets, although N. O. McDowell (medium) headed both averages. He was followed in each by the captain, D. N. Bennett (fast-medium), who took six for 42 v Bristol GS. Queen's, Taunton, with their outstanding depth in batting, were bowled out only once. Schools beaten in seven victories included Bristol GS, Wycliffe, Queen Elizabeth's Hospital, Bishop Vesey's and Taunton. N. J. Burke, who headed the batting, made 103 v King's, Bruton.

An unusual feature of Radley's season was their drawing two games with the scores level – v Free Foresters and St Edward's, Oxford. In both cases Radley were chasing, and it was felt these should have been added to the wins v Cheltenham, Marlborough, Winchester (scoring 3 off the last ball), Eton and Geelong. They lost only to Stowe and, hosting the festival, won the inaugural Silk Trophy. Ratcliffe, with four wins, were unbeaten until the penultimate game, v Nottingham HS, and could look back with satisfaction on victory over Mount St Marys and draws with Oakham, Wellingborough and Loughborough. The bowling relied too heavily on the captain, P. G. Meredith, but the batting, while not really strong enough to chase large totals with confidence, had a more solid look about it. Fifteen-year-old E. J. Meredith headed the averages for the second year. Reading, a young and inexperienced XI, enjoyed their cricket, despite winning only once. Reed's, capable of making runs, were handicapped by a lack of variety in bowling, with too much being done by the specialist batsmen. One of these, M. R. Neal-Smith, took 31 wickets with his off-spin bowling.

Reigate GS were disappointed to lose nine of their 25 fixtures. Consolation came in the batting of A. J. Dewson, whose 680 runs included 102 v Emanuel, M. K. Hynard (110 v Old Reigatians) and in particular of S. J. Hygate, who had scores of 136 v Victoria College, Jersey and 129 v Portsmouth GS in his 873 runs, the second-highest aggregate for the school after N. J. Falkner's 1,139 in 1980. Opener C. B. Amos and left-arm R. J. Hathaway provided the bowling support for N. J. Chapman, an outstanding prospect who captured 43 wickets and hit 368 runs in his first season. Rendcomb began well, winning three of their first four matches and drawing with Cheltenham; but only one more match was won. The left-arm spin of the Gloucestershire Under-19 representative, A. Jones, was the pick of the bowling, while R. Milner (medium), who took six for 19 v Cheltenham, and R. Hughes (medium away-swing), eight for 42 v Bloxham, led the seam attack. Milner, a left-handed opening bat, and J. Carroll both passed 600 runs, but no-one else reached 250.

In schools matches Repton registered victories v Pocklington, Oakham, Wellington and King Edward's, Birmingham, and in all games suffered only one defeat. Though eleven games were drawn, there was much exciting cricket, with several going to the last ball and any of four results possible. The side was led by the opening bowler, J. M. Windsor, who took the most wickets; the batting was headed by A. R. Paulett, who scored 105 not out v Pocklington, and M. D. Murray, son of the former West Indian wicket-keeper, D. L. Murray. Richard Huish College, Taunton beat the strong Durham side to become the first state school to win the Barclays Bank Under-17 Cup since its inception in 1982; an encouraging result at a time when cricket in state schools is said to be in decline. With the last pair together, and chasing Durham's 140, Huish's opening bowler, N. Hammacott, hit 2 off the last ball to tie the scores, making them winners by virtue of fewer wickets lost. For thirteen wins in eighteen matches, they owed much to a batting line-up headed by Kevin Parsons, whose 886 runs in twelve innings were a school record, his twin brother Keith, the captain, and B. Collins, the last two making solid all-round contributions. The Parsons, who between them also held 21 catches, played for Somerset Second XI, as did the seam bowler, K. Moysie.

Rossall's season was one of the most successful for many years. They began by beating Manchester GS in their first fixture and followed with seven more wins, including those v Arnold, Giggleswick, Stonyhurst and King Edward VII, Lytham. The opening attack was especially hostile and quick, with S. D. Holmes in particular worrying many batsmen when the wickets were hard in May. He took six for 28 v King Edward's. While N. H. Crust was less successful with the bat than in 1989, he still scored the most runs, and his captaincy was an important factor in the team's success. J. Elliott hit their only century, 100 v Cranleigh in the festival at Loretto. Batting and bowling records were broken at Royal GS, Guildford. B. C. Ray, the captain, compiled a record aggregate of 673 runs, his 141 v RGS Colchester being voted the outstanding individual performance of the RGS festival. He and N. Kent, whose 500 runs included six fifties, dominated the batting, but the middle order rarely seemed able to consolidate. A. Thomson's ability to move the ball both ways at medium pace brought him 48 wickets, also a record, including a return of eight for 57 v St Dunstan's. The fact that 28 of his victims were bowled is a testimony to his accuracy. Newcomers G. Morley and T. Fraser put in good performances at the festival, taking five for 17 v RGS Worcester and six for 34 v RGS High Wycombe respectively.

Royal GS, Worcester continued their winning ways, beating thirteen sides and losing only to Bedford Modern in schools games. The batting was dominated by the first three – D. M. Walker, C. J. Evers and A. V. Powell – all of whom looked set to make 1,000 runs but faltered at the end. The captain, M. J. N. Taylor, backed them up with 615 runs. Among the bowlers, N. P. Haddock's left-arm spin accounted for 58 wickets, and Evers, at fast-medium, captured 51 wickets to go with his 932 runs, an impressive all-round performance. Batsmen prospered at Rugby, but as a record of twelve draws in fifteen matches suggests, bowlers had to work hard for wickets on the summer's pitches. W. Glazebrook emerged as the leading all-rounder; strong in defence, he also hit hard and straight, and his bowling was tight and tireless. Support came in both departments from the experienced M. Semmens (fast-medium). Rydal, encouraged by some early-season performances, suffered a setback when they lost control of a game they should have won, v Liverpool College, and then were completely outplayed by King's, Chester. However, although Rydal finished without a win, with seven of the side expected to return in 1991, there was cause for optimism.

What was always going to be a difficult season for St Albans looked even bleaker when their captain and leading all-rounder, B. LeFleming, severed both main tendons in his right palm only months before summer term began. Yet, despite holding the bat with difficulty, he collected the second-most runs and wickets, as well as taking a record number of catches. H. Cornwell's 649 runs included 104 not out v St George's, but of the bowlers, only H. Sherman looked capable of bowling sides out. Even so, his 37 wickets were fewer than had been expected of him. St Bees felt they could have improved on their record of four matches won and seven drawn had they possessed a more incisive attack. P. Hoffman headed the batting averages, and A. Mawson, a colt, showed great potential in scoring the most runs, including the side's only hundred.

St Edmund's, Canterbury anticipated a lacklustre season, yet by the end a young side had been transformed into a confident, cohesive unit, able to overcome the loss of their first four games and finish with five victories. St Augustine's, Cranbrook, the XL Club and St Edmund's Society were teams beaten. A. Hajilou developed the art of astute captaincy, and his unbeaten 117 v St Edmund's Society was the highlight of his significant all-round contribution. C. R. M. Whittington demonstrated a rare talent with the ball, achieving many variations of pace, flight and turn, while P. Walker and T. Wong showed all-round promise. St Edward's, Oxford, also a young XI, struggled for much of the season, with only wins v Stowe and the Cryptics to counter nine defeats. The opening batsman, H. Varney, and C. M. Pitcher, a fast-medium bowler, carried a heavy responsibility, but with most of the side returning, and some promising colts coming through, the prospects for 1991 are better.

Another school to win just twice was St George's, Weybridge. A powerful batting line-up was headed by S. Marsh, whose 871 runs featured his 126 before lunch v Epsom (ten sixes, nine fours), 123 not out v Emeriti (seven sixes, eleven fours) and 182 v KCS Wimbledon (105 minutes, twelve sixes, twenty fours) – the highest for St George's since H. Cannon's 214 in 1901. The bowling, however, lacked the experience needed on good wickets. St Joseph's, Ipswich recorded eight wins and five defeats, their mixed fortunes reflecting some sound batting and inconsistent bowling. A highlight in a difficult year for St Lawrence College, Ramsgate was the 79-run victory v Kimbolton. The mainstay of the side was O. G. Morris, a left-handed batsman and right-arm medium-pace bowler, with good support coming from the left-handed G. Turner, a fast bowler and useful middle-order bat. St Paul's could field a highly competent batting XI, but the bowling struggled, especially on the school's pitches at Barnes. B. R. Taberner, captain and wicket-keeper, and T. J. Taberner, his younger brother, played the two three-figure innings, the elder hitting 130 not out v Highgate in the opening match, and the younger 101 not out v The Leys on the final day of the season. J. W. Hill, a leg-spinner who took just nine wickets in eight games, set up the win v Mill Hill with the remarkable figures of 18–12–18–6 on a good batting pitch.

St Peter's, York were handicapped by the absence for much of the season of some senior players. Although their results were disappointing, there were good individual performances, notably J. D. Rigby's unbeaten 102 v Yorkshire Gentleman. Sevenoaks were another strong batting side whose bowling failed to reach a similar level, even if T. R. Payton's 21 wickets were not due reward for his efforts. Omar Iqbal, the captain, scored 825 runs, the highest aggregate for the school since C. J. Tavaré's 1,036 in 1973, with the most fluent of his four hundreds being 107 v Brentwood in the better of the XI's two wins. Sherborne's undefeated XI, in winning more games than any of their predecessors, beat Taunton, King's Taunton, Clifton, Canford, Downside, Blundell's, Geelong College, Marlborough, Cheltenham, Dorset Rangers, Free Foresters and MCC. Their fast bowler, S. W. Stevens, broke the 67-year-old school record with 55 wickets, while the steadiness of A. J. Rutherford (fast-medium) and R. H. F. Pugsley (off-spin) was an ingredient in a successful attack. Wicket-keeper C. R. Levy set an outstanding example for an enthusiastic fielding side which held some splendid catches.

Shiplake reported eight wins; and the game v Lord Wandsworth College ended in a draw with the scores level. A. J. Hall scored most runs and took 56 wickets: in consecutive matches he took nine for 18 v St Bartholomew's and scored 145 not out v Reading School. After an uncertain start, C. P. J. Abbiss emerged as a solid No. 3 batsman and useful stock bowler, while a fourteen-year-old Canadian, P. C. Lefort, showed promise as a left-arm swing bowler. While their batsmen struggled to find early form, Shrewsbury endured three consecutive defeats in April; after that they lost only once, and among their four wins was that by 50 runs v Eton in the Silk Trophy festival at Radley. D. J. Bowett, who played for Middlesex Second XI, was again to the fore with 34 wickets and 523 runs, including 139 not out v Zimbabwe Schools. P. W. Trimby's leg-breaks and googlies consistently troubled batsmen, and B. R. Parfitt, son of P. H. Parfitt, showed his batting potential in his seven games, heading the averages.

In a season of rebuilding, Simon Langton GS did well to win six matches. N. Jones headed the batting, and the leading wicket-taker was R. Moulton, who captained the side in the absence through injury of R. Stevens. A highlight was the return of seven for 48 v St Edmund's, Canterbury by fourth-former N. Bielby. Excellently captained by J. M. A. Inglis, who was selected for Warwickshire Colts, Solihull had six wins to offset their one defeat – in the final of the Birmingham Schools Under-19 competition. Inglis dominated both batting and bowling, but as the season progressed the less-experienced players gained confidence under his guidance. R. A. Kallicharran played some useful innings, as well as moving the ball both ways at medium pace, S. R. Fell brought much-needed steadiness to the middle order, and K. A. Mortimer and P. S. Amiss emerged as a sound opening pair. Mortimer's bowling became more hostile as the season progressed, but S. M. Franklin had a disappointing return by his own standards. Of particular note were successive unbeaten centuries v MCC and King's, Worcester, by Inglis, and his six for 43 v Wolverhampton.

Stowe's bowling earned them five wins, notably that by 100 runs v otherwise unbeaten Radley. The fragility of their middle-order batting, though, led to six defeats. The side was captained with enthusiasm by the wicket-keeper, M. C. G. Atkinson, the third member of his family to lead the school. Strathallan, too, looked to their bowling, especially with the ball so dominant in Scottish cricket. Their attack was spearheaded by H. A. D. McKenzie-Wilson (fast), with valuable support from the young M. R. Tench (fast-medium). K. L. Salters (right-hand bat, slow left-arm bowler) headed both averages. Three all-rounders were prominent in the unbeaten XI of Sutton Valence: the captain J. F. Barr (right-hand bat, slow left-arm), J. Page (medium) and J. Cowell (fast-medium). Highlights were the win v MCC, with a target of 231 met in the last over; the draw v King's, Rochester, in which Barr made 142 in a total of 235 for three dec.; and Barr's hundred from 73 balls as they achieved 189 for one in 29 overs in reply to Dover College's 208 for five off 81.

Taunton's young side exceeded expectations with seven victories. Memorable were P. Tarr's unbeaten 118 v the XL Club and the tie v Blundell's, in which Taunton lost their last wicket to the final ball of the match. Tiffin's formidable batting line-up was seen to advantage chasing runs, the most spectacular wins coming when scoring 249 for six v MCC, 222 for six v Magdalen College School and 283 for seven v Elizabeth College, Guernsey. Opener G. J. Kennis became the first since D. G. Ottley in 1962 to score 1,000 runs for the school, his unbeaten 128 v MCC being the most notable of his three hundreds. The captain and No. 4, R. D. Nash, had an aggregate of 819, despite missing a month with a broken finger, and hit four centuries v schools, the highest being 137 v Hampton. He went on to play for Surrey Young Cricketers. Of the bowlers, only B. J. Walters (left-arm spin) performed with match-winning consistency. The leadership skills of the Tonbridge captain, J. F. S. Rowland, fostered an excellent spirit and enthusiasm in the XI, which beat Tonbridge CC, Lancing, Free Foresters, Haileybury and Felsted, and were just one wicket from victory in four drawn games. Four of their five defeats came in the last two weeks, only two being v schools. S. J. Doel, batting with care and concentration, consistently gave the side a good start, but the middle order generally failed to build on it. No-one scored a hundred. The bowling honours were shared by R. P. Ziegler and D. L. Gilbert, who, both medium-fast, troubled batsmen in all matches.

Trent College followed an eleven-match tour of Australia by playing exciting, positive cricket. More than half the eleven draws ended in their favour, three with the opposition nine wickets down. T. A. Ellis's 683 runs included 111 v Bradford GS, and C. M. Winterbottom hit an unbeaten 104 v Pocklington. The bowling was headed by M. T. White and N. D. Johnson, the latter, under sixteen, making a significant impact in his first year in the XI. Another successful season for Trinity came as something of a surprise at a time of rebuilding. Capably captained by the wicket-keeper, S. P. Fairchild, they recorded eleven victories, notably v St Dunstan's, Tiffin, Emanuel and Elizabeth College, Guernsey, and lost just twice, bringing the school's results against all opposition over three years to 33 won, 5 lost and 29 drawn. S. S. Prabhu led the batting with 758 runs, well supported by C. H. Maiden and the left-handed R. W. Nowell, while the bowling revolved around two left-arm spinners, P. S. Kember and Nowell, who shared 84 wickets. Nowell, an Under-14, took seven for 16 v Whitgift. The good work of the Truro bowlers was not backed up by their batsmen, who tended to get out to injudicious strokes when a steadier, more solid approach was called for.

Warwick, with wins v Bablake, Trent, Bishop Vesey's, MCC, Norwich School and King's, Worcester, looked primarily to their batsmen. Most reliable were D. Dalton, S. Ensall and the England Under-15 representative, C. Mulraine, whose 124 not out v MCC was the only century. Half-centuries from the captain, G. Rawstorne, saw the side to three of their victories. Fifteen-year-old S. Webb headed the bowling averages with 25 wickets. Unbeaten, Wellington College beat seven sides, including The Perse, Oakham, Forest, William Hulme's GS and Pocklington. The last two were beaten during the Wellington festival, on the final three days of which the captain, J. M. Attfield, hit successive hundreds v Chigwell, Pocklington and Magdalen College School. He dominated the season with a school record of 1,116 runs, overshadowing the excellent all-round contribution of N. J. Haste (441 runs and 39 wickets). Wellington College had in A. P. D. Wyke a tactically aware captain who, overcoming an injury, took the most wickets, including six for 33 v Charterhouse. The strength of the XI, however, was the depth of their batting, with A. E. Newman and T. N. Sawrey-Cookson particularly effective. Most of the seven wins by Wellington School came at the end of term, the best being v BRNC Dartmouth, Queen's Taunton and Christ College, Brecon. R. Fisher batted consistently well, with sound support from G. Wolfendon and S. Palmer, a positive captain, but the bowlers were not helped by the alarming number of dropped catches.

Whitgift enjoyed their best season for some years. In schools matches they beat St Dunstan's, Brighton, Reigate and Christ's Hospital, losing only to Hurstpierpoint. The left-handed J. D. G. Ufton, son of D. G. Ufton, established a post-war record of 817 runs at 54.46, including 123 not out v St John's, Leatherhead. Hundreds also came from R. Shah, 163 not out, and P. M. Horne, 101 not out, in Whitgift's 404 for two off 45 overs v Excelsior Rotterdam. Another 36 wickets by R. J. Targett (fast-medium) took his tally for the school to 108 in three years, and he and all the bowlers were backed by sound fielding: wicket-keeper N. W. J. Edwards effected 31 dismissals (26 ct, 5 st). Winchester followed a successful ten-match tour of Australia at Easter with their best season for some years. Under the captaincy of R. J. Turnill, the experienced side played positive cricket throughout to win six games, although a sharper attack might have wrought four more victories. Another experienced XI, that of Woodbridge, failed to achieve what had been hoped of them. The captain, B. K. Sindell, led from the front, and scored a fine century v St Joseph's College, but otherwise the batting failed to take advantage of good wickets and never totalled 200. Consequently, the bowlers, accurate but not particularly incisive, never had the opportunity to apply pressure.

Woodhouse Grove suffered their only defeat by a school in their first match - v Ashville College. Showing greater application thereafter, they beat Giggleswick, Hipperholme and Queen Elizabeth, Wakefield in schools fixtures. Among a team thought to be the most talented at the school for many years, three all-rounders were prominent, S. N. Lee's leg-spin being well supported by the medium pace of R. D. Webster and C. J. Rika. They also scored the most runs, although the captain and opening bat, D. M. Lawson, would have totalled more had he not missed several matches with a rugby injury. A highlight was Lee's return of six for 31 v Batley. Undefeated by schools, Worksop College recorded wins v Ampleforth, Bloxham and Nottinghamshire Club and Ground, as well as participating in an exciting draw v Repton. Their two losses were sustained after declaring. A strong batting side, positive in approach, compiled six totals in excess of 200, with hundreds coming from the captain, J. D. Goode, and two left-handers, R. A. Kettleborough and C. J. Walker. Without much variety, the bowling tended to struggle on the firm home pitches.

Wrekin, with a steady opener in M. R. Savage, their wicket-keeper, lacked a reliable batsman to sustain the middle order. The bowling was the stronger suit, with most opposing sides being bowled out. A. J. Holloway (left-arm spin) took five wickets v schools three times, S. R. D. H. Lander was genuinely quick, and S. R. Phillips-Broadhurst, moving the ball about at a lively pace, also registered three five-wicket returns. A highlight was the nine-wicket defeat of Bromsgrove. Wycliffe won only twice, but with most of the XI expected to return in 1991, they look forward to an improvement. S. B. Thomas opened the bowling with pace and movement, and took a hat-trick v Dauntsey's, while W. R. Tovey's flighted off-spin troubled many good batsmen and brought him the season's best return of seven for 47 v Bromsgrove. Although some senior batsmen at Wyggeston & Queen Elizabeth I Sixth Form College struggled to find form, the depth of batting and the consistent starts provided by S. Kennell ensured that they always scored enough runs. A newcomer to the XI, S. Patel (fast-medium), joined D. Green in constituting a formidable opening attack, but insufficient support meant that advantages gained were not always pressed home.
