

PUBLIC SCHOOL CRICKET IN 1929.

By A. PODMORE.

Thanks are again due to many kind friends and correspondents for the trouble they have taken in supplying information, without which these notes could not have been written, and my chief regret is that want of space precludes a fuller review. C. B. Fry, in his admirable criticism in 1893, wrote "an exhaustive account of the cricket season at each of the more famous schools would be beyond the compass of this article." He dealt with twenty-three schools—there are now three times that number which with good reason claim the right to come under notice.

The strength of the schools must vary from season to season, but some dozen, whose names readily occur, annually keep up a high standard and are in a class above the others.

With the conditions, as in 1928, generally quite favourable, some very good batting performances were recorded. Moore and Wilcox, captains for the second year of Shrewsbury and Dulwich respectively, each scored over a thousand runs for his school, while Cawston, of Lancing, reached four figures during the term, when playing for Sussex against Hampshire. Rogers, of Birkenhead, established a Public Schools record which is likely to last for many years. He took 100 wickets and scored 1,000 runs the second season in succession, a wonderful achievement though he played in many matches and the opposition was not always strong.

A batsman possessing strong defence and plenty of scoring strokes, and a medium paced bowler with a ball which swerves very late, Rogers captained the Liverpool Public Schools against the Manchester Public Schools in August, and, after getting a number of wickets cheaply he played a good innings of 64. He was invited to play for Cheshire, but, I understand, will probably throw in his lot with Lancashire. Moore was invited to play for Gloucestershire. Wilcox won his spurs for Essex, and Rothschild (Harrow) saw service with Northants.

Among good players who did not appear in either of the trial games at Lord's, were Clarke (Repton), Nicholls (Sedbergh) and Surfleet (U.C.S.). Clarke took part in a few matches for Derbyshire. Nicholls, one of the best left-hand batsmen of recent years, fully realised as a forcing player the expectations of the previous summer, and Surfleet, who has at least one more year at school, combined sound defence with a nice variety of strokes, being especially strong on the on side. His methods are very similar to those of Wilcox, and, in addition, he is a promising spin bowler, with a well-disguised googly. Jones scored over a thousand runs for Fettes, a most unusual feat in Scottish school cricket.

Batting, all round, showed no signs of falling off, and the fielding, as it should do, reached a high standard. Wicket-keepers enjoyed a particularly good year. Apart from those who played at Lord's, Maxwell (Brighton), Mackarel (Rossall), Maclean (St. Paul's), Oldfield (Repton) and Ship (Wrekin), all acquitted themselves with distinct credit.

The bowling was not so satisfactory. Early in the term the pitches told against the young bowler and, even at Lord's, when, as has frequently happened of late years, the conditions were unfavourable for the fortnight's cricket devoted to the schools, many of the boys did not know enough to take full advantage of the state of the wicket.

Of the fast bowlers, Nevinson (Eton) quite fulfilled his former promise and stood out alone, being almost as effective on rain-damaged turf as when the ground was hard, and Benton (Wellingborough), though not possessing the physical advantages of reach and height, developed considerable pace and kept a length, with a sharp break from the off. This proved disconcerting to the Young Professionals at Lord's. There was no outstanding spin bowler of the type of R. D. F. Bland, the Shrewsbury left-hander of the previous year, but more should be heard of Ekin, the leg-break bowler of Cheltenham, and of Cameron, of Taunton, while Nelson, of Harpenden, Brims of Uppingham, and Gooch of Haberdashers, showed promise as left-handers. Williams (Repton), a forcing left-hand bat, bowled right-hand with a beautifully easy action. Turning the ball from the off, and keeping a length, he was never easy to score from. Ford (Harrow) must remain an unknown quantity. Should things go well with him, he may prove a great asset to Oxford.

Lord's v. The Rest was a great disappointment, play being possible only on the first day. Two very strong batting sides had been selected, and Hazlerigg and Nevinson bowling in good form the Lord's Schools did well to dismiss the Rest for 286. Wilcox played a beautiful innings and Dashwood, more sedate, did not give a chance. Cawston shaped confidently; Moore hit the ball with the full face of the bat, and Brown, who presents a delightfully straight bat and is a most determined player, seemed quite at home, but all three were out to poor strokes when apparently well set.

During the two hours and a quarter left for play, Crawford drove delightfully—quite in his style of the previous year—and Rothschild made some beautiful strokes on the off side. Both were, perhaps, unlucky not to catch the eye of the selectors for the Army match. Bryce-Smith and Rome, the latter hitting with power, consolidated the position, before Bompas made a very fine catch at the wicket that dismissed the left-hander. Apart from that of Nevinson and Hazlerigg, the bowling during the day was not impressive.

Only fifty minutes play proved possible on the first day in the Army match against the Public Schools, and during that time Wilcox (who opened the innings with a beautiful stroke off his head) and Cawston put on 52 runs without being separated. The light was bad, but both batsmen, Cawston, in particular after being missed in the slips, showed confidence. On a wet, but by no means easy wicket, the next morning, Cawston, Rome and Dashwood made no attempt to force the pace, but Evans, the left-hander, scored freely off the leg breaks of Armitage.

The fielding of the Schools was very good indeed, Wilcox and Evans bringing off brilliant catches, and Nevinson bowled well on the dead wicket. Brown and Cawston, too, the latter finding himself able to make the ball come off quickly, did good work, but Hazlerigg was not suited by the conditions. Rogers did not go on.

In the Eton and Harrow match which took place in intense heat, Rome played a great game for his side, on the first afternoon, and when Eton went in again the next day, they held the negligible lead of 29 runs. It is worth noting that every man on the Harrow side was bowled. Hazlerigg, usually a sedate batsman, hit up his 65 in an hour, but, with three of the best Eton wickets down for 102, anything might have happened. Two dropped catches, however, robbed Harrow of any chance of victory. Eton, owing to casualties, were obliged to delay the declaration, but Harrow requiring to bat two and a half hours in order to avoid defeat, started disastrously. For the second time in the match, however, Rome and Liddell took part in a valuable stand, and once again the match was drawn.

Eton's bowling was much the steadier and more accurate. For this reason alone, the batting honours went to Harrow, Rome saving the side, and Shuckburgh playing two delightful innings.

The Eton and Winchester match also had to be left drawn after two days of strenuous cricket, in which the Light Blues proved their undoubted superiority, but the Wykehamists fought a rear-guard action with excellent pluck and a good measure of credit. The winning of the toss in this game proved of no advantage, for there was dew on the wicket at eleven o'clock, and the Eton bowlers, especially Nevinson, occasionally made a length ball jump unpleasantly. In the circumstances a score of 265 represented some good batting. Against the rather innocuous, though commendably steady Winchester bowling, the Eton batsmen enjoyed themselves, but never so adventurously as to get ahead of the clock. With eight wickets down when 162 runs on, Eton declared, and Winchester, after a long and hot spell of fielding, might have collapsed. For the second time in the match, however, Walker the captain, and Scourfield, played very determined cricket, and by tea time the danger of defeat was over.

A splendid game took place during the Schools first week at Lord's. Clifton, 106 runs on with nine wickets in hand, appeared in a winning position on the second day, but a great innings of 102 by Davies, assisted by 63 from Crawford, entirely altered the complexion of the game, and, after a very exciting finish, Tonbridge won by a wicket. With the last pair in and one run to tie, Keun, whose all round play had had much to do with Clifton's happy position, pitched a ball well up to Peal. It shot dead, beat the bat, missed the wicket by a hair's breadth, beat the wicket-keeper, went for 4 byes, and the match was over. The irony of this game was that the Clifton catching, so bright a feature of their other engagements, proved faulty more than once. This weakness had a big bearing on the result.

The Rugby and Marlborough match was completely spoilt by the weather, less than three hours play being possible on the first day and only forty minutes on the second.

Cheltenham beat Haileybury by 185 runs. The sounder batting side all through the winners showed more enterprise and hit the ball hard. Ekin had a great match. Going in when Cheltenham were in a bad way he played the best innings and later, with his legbreaks, had the Haileybury batsmen at his mercy, taking, in all, nine wickets for 5 runs apiece. His fielding at cover point, too, stood out as a feature of the game. Haileybury had an exceptional pair of opening batsmen in Sumner and Evans, on whom everything depended, but brilliant fielding and a smart return to the wicket by Graham-Smith dismissed Sumner when well set in the first innings and to a great extent this determined the issue.

When the Young Amateurs beat the Young Professionals in the concluding match of the fortnight, one of the features of the game was the wicket-keeping of Wilson for the losers, and Bompas (Westminster) for the winners. The all-round play of Moore (Shrewsbury) and Malcolm (Eastbourne), the batting of Parry (Merchant Taylors') and the fast bowling of Benton (Wellingborough), who made the ball rise awkwardly and turn quickly, had much to do with the success of the Amateurs. Mendl (Repton) fielded well and showed promising form with the bat. He hit the wicket, from cover point, on four occasions, with practically only one stump at which to aim.

On the fast wickets a great many runs were scored all through the "Oval Week." The first match, between the Young Amateurs of Surrey and those of Kent, was drawn, the second, with Essex, being won after a declaration by the visitors, and the third, against Sussex, drawn. In the game with Kent there were two declarations, the visitors closing their first innings at 461 for eight—Moss (Malvern) 136. Surrey replied with 309—Jarchow (Brighton) 123—and following on, they declared at 299 for nine—Tilling (Tonbridge) 97 not out. Kent had scored 48 for four when stumps were pulled up.

A sporting declaration by Wilcox (Dulwich) saved the Essex match from an uninteresting finish. He left Surrey an hour and three-quarters to make 193, and the task was accomplished four minutes from time, for the loss of seven batsmen.

A similar declaration was made by Sussex, and Surrey required 16 runs for victory when time arrived. Three centuries were scored in this match, Winlaw (Winchester) getting 128 not out in the second innings for Sussex, and Felton and Hadingham (both of St. Paul's) each scoring exactly 100 for Surrey, Hadingham being not out. Felton also took seven wickets for 53 runs in the first innings, and Greening (Charterhouse) dismissed six Surrey batsmen for 35 in the second.

Outstanding among some good performances accomplished by the Richmond Public Schools, who were again opposed to many of the leading London clubs, was the defeat of the Civil Service Crusaders by nine wickets. The Civil Service fielded almost the same side as that which had played against the Gentlemen of Ireland the previous week. A fine first wicket partnership by Surfleet (U.C.S.) and Shnerson (St. Paul's) in the second innings was the best as well as the highest in the series of matches. The two left-hand bowlers, Nelson (Harpenden) and Gooch (Haberdashers), who will both be available for their Schools next season, created a favourable impression,—the former slow, the latter, fast medium with a dangerous swinging ball. Maxwell, of Brighton, kept wicket in good style.

The Eton side, in my opinion, slightly above the average in batting, well above it in bowling, and perhaps rather below it in fielding, did not enjoy any outstanding victories. They began the season with a legacy of four bowlers from 1928, Nevinson, fast right hand, Lord Dalmeny—then the Hon. A. R. Primrose—fast medium, Hazlerigg, slow off breaks, and Jelf, slow left hand; Franks, a right hand medium spinner, made a fifth. In normal years E. W. S. Ford with fastish in-swingers would have easily got a place, but though tried in several matches he had to be content as twelfth man. The batting had a solid foundation, Hazlerigg, the captain, Southby and Monroe-Hinds all being sound, and Dalmeny a dangerous hitter. Promising new batsmen were found in Hale, Atkinson-Clark and Allen, the last two only sixteen years of age. An adequate wicket-keeper and useful No. 9 appeared in Baerlein. The fielding improved, Southby, who made the wonderful catch in the deep field that dismissed Rome in the 1928 match at Lord's, and Atkinson-Clark often being brilliant. The two chief needs of the side by July were a leg spinner and another forcing batsman. Hale, previously the slowest scorer on the side, filled the second gap with his inspired hundred at Lord's, following the lead of Hazlerigg, who made 70 at about twice his usual pace. Southby had a second unlucky "Lord's," but was really the best of the batsmen. Franks dislocated an ankle on the second day, and Dalmeny renewed an old strain in his back, or an earlier declaration might have been made. Hale will be captain this year, and Atkinson-Clark, Allen and Baerlein also remain.

Harrow started the season under the best auspices, and, though they suffered an unexpected set back at the hands of the Town, there was so much variety in the bowling and brilliance in the batting that a successful summer seemed assured. This expectation was realised, but Ford, on whom so much depended, though carefully nursed by Rome, could keep up his pace for only a few overs, while Rothschild, often enjoying much success with his spin bowling, proved disappointing at Lord's. Welch, a medium paced bowler with an off break, was handicapped by illness. The fielding, especially of Ramsay, in the outfield and at third man, and of Rothschild and Welch in the slips, reached, at times, a very high standard. Bull—seen at his best against the Town, and at Lord's—was reliable behind the wicket. Rome became the mainstay of the batting; Rothschild and Rattigan, with beautiful off side strokes, made a good opening pair. Shuckburgh, a most attractive batsman, played two delightful innings at Lord's. Lawrence, Welch and Rattigan are available this year. Lawrence, who will captain the side, should get many wickets with his medium pace left hand bowling.

Of the school matches, drawn games were played with Eton and Winchester. Charterhouse, against whom Ford and Rome met with early successes, excellent catches being brought off in the slips, suffered defeat by 93 runs in a low scoring game. Marlborough, with B. B. Waddy bowling well, won at Harrow by three wickets.

Winchester, a good batting side, had not the necessary bowling strength to be rated a really powerful school team, but were hard to beat, and, of their two defeats, one followed a too optimistic declaration against the Foresters, and the other was at the hands of the Greenjackets, after the Eton match had been played, and the full pressure of regular practice was somewhat relaxed. Of nine drawn games, five were decidedly in Winchester's favour. The two actually won were against rival schools, Charterhouse and Marlborough. Batting first, at Winchester, on a wicket always too wet to be difficult, Charterhouse took three hours and a half to make 125 runs. Winchester, with 100 minutes left for play, lost five wickets for 57, but ultimately got home by three wickets, three minutes from time. The Marlborough match, as usual with these games, underwent interesting vicissitudes, but the superior quality of the Winchester batting left them with an appreciable advantage. After an even struggle in which, except for a brief period when Ford was fresh, the bat always dominated the ball, the Harrow match had to be left drawn. Much the soundest and most successful players Scourfield and Winlaw, were both determined, watchful batsmen, who came out with fine records. Winlaw, with a highest score of 73 and an average of over 40, should make many runs in his next two years at school. The bowling although supported by good fielding, proved mediocre, only Jenkins and Townsend having any real pretensions to a consistent length. There was little variety in the attack, and the team had no genuine spin bowler at all. Winlaw, a good field anywhere, captains the side this year, with five old "Lord's," (counting Tindall, the twelfth man), to support him.

Owing chiefly to a shortage of bowlers Rugby cannot be said to have had a successful season. On several occasions the batting was very weak although individually, quite good, and it often happened that the tail contributed largely to the total. The most consistent scorers, Norman—unfortunately taken ill on the eve of the Marlborough match—and Oswald, both made centuries, and Rendel also did well. Of the bowlers, Robinson, Dove and Jackson were the best. Rugby opened the season satisfactory with a convincing win over Leamington, and the next two matches were drawn in their favour. There followed, however, a number of defeats, partly accounted for by the persistent way in which the toss was lost, the bowling not being strong enough to dismiss opponents quickly. In the match with Clifton the bowling of Harrison and Keun proved too much for the home side, who lost by an innings and 19 runs, and at Uppingham, the visitors were beaten by 51 runs. Towards the end of the season things took a turn for the better, convincing scores being hit up against Rugby Town and the Masters, but rain fell at Lord's, where Rugby held an advantage over Marlborough in what little play took place. Robinson will captain the side this year, with Fehr, Jackson and Renton, and possibly Leader, available.

Marlborough showed such promise in their earlier matches that defeat by both Wellington and Cheltenham came as a disappointment. The luck proved unkind at Cheltenham. Recovering their form they beat Harrow by three wickets, a victory due largely to the bowling of Waddy, who took six for 62. When playing Winchester, who won by four wickets, the later Marlborough batsmen were a little reckless, or the visitors would have had to go in against time. After a great innings by Davies-Scourfield, one wicket was thrown away by a foolish run out, and another by a wild stroke. Free Foresters won a very fine match on the stroke of time, after the school had declared their second innings with five wickets down, and Old Marlburians, though leading by 173 on the first innings, were beaten by 45 runs, Waddy taking thirteen wickets for 137. The whole Marlborough eleven could bat, Wynne, No. 9, with 50 and 43, being top scorer in both innings, against Cheltenham; their fielding was good, and Comber had no superior in the Schools behind the wicket. He took the ball quietly and equally well on the off and leg side. In a good variety of bowling, Nelson had considerable control of flight and spin; and Waddy, fastish medium, kept an excellent length, could swing the ball now and again, and make it turn very sharply from the off. Bell, a natural fast bowler, unfortunately strained himself, but developing his batting, played a fine innings of 93 against M.C.C. Anderson and Outram became an excellent opening pair, and Hewan who played a beautiful innings in the second week of the holidays, for Old Marlburians against Old Cheltonians, became a much better bat than his school scores would imply. Comber, who will probably captain the side this year, is dashing rather than sound but has the makings of a fine bat. He will have the assistance of Bell and Nelson, two all round players.

Cheltenham had a very successful season. They beat Marlborough, Malvern and Haileybury and in a drawn game at Clifton, neither side could claim an advantage. The eleven proved well balanced. They could make runs down to No. 9; had plenty of variety in bowling, and fielded well above the average. Ekin a good leg break bowler, was especially deadly against other schools; Neate, quite fast for a few overs, usually dislodged some good bat, and Tait with a beautifully easy action bowled well at times, but did not improve to the extent anticipated. Bryce-Smith showed himself to be a first rate captain of a team that pulled together. He knew how to make the best use of his bowling, was a sound No. 1 batsman, and one of the best wicket-keepers in the schools. A left-hander, he specially distinguished himself at Lord's, where his work on the leg side was brilliant. Graham-Smith, a very stylish batsman, played some beautiful innings, and fielded brilliantly at mid-off, a position in which Cheltenham has always specialised. Ekin, an all-round cricketer and first class fielder in any position, was the match winner of the side. Higson, Meikle, Morton, Neate, Brettell, and Miller Logan remain for this year.

In a disappointing season Haileybury had the worst of drawn games with Uppingham and Wellington, and lost heavily to Cheltenham at Lord's, where the batting broke down badly against the leg break bowling of Ekin. In Sumner, the captain, and Evans, a left-hander they possessed one of the best opening pair of batsmen in the schools. When a big stand seemed probable at Lord's wonderful fielding by Graham-Smith cost Sumner his wicket. This was quite in the nature of a disaster. Apart from these two, and Bullmore, a free attractive player when he got going, the batting was very moderate. Wills, a clever slow medium swinger, but without the real left-hander's break back, stood out well above the rest of the bowlers, Evans, whose leg breaks and googlies had been so effective the previous year, losing his deadliness. E. J. Unwin, medium pace with a high action, should develop. Wolff, in his third year, kept wicket soundly, but the fielding did not quite come up to the usual high standard. More should be heard of Sumner at Woolwich. Evans, captain this year, will have with him Wolff, Bullmore, E. J. Unwin, Gillman and Joscelyne.

Clifton had quite a good side, and, if able to drive home promising positions held against both Cheltenham and Tonbridge, their season would have been indeed memorable. Owen, the captain, with three others of the previous year's eleven to call upon, succeeded in building up a useful all round eleven, though he wanted either a genuine leg break or left-hand bowler. Of an excellent fielding team, Tovey, Nuttall and Owen were perhaps the pick; but by a cruel stroke of fortune the last-named, whose cricket had been consistently safe as well as brilliant during the whole term, experienced a bad day at Lord's. Knight's 120 not out had a good deal to do with the innings victory at Rugby, and on several occasions this batsman saved the side by his coolness and judgment. Owen and Nuttall also made a good many runs, but both were rather shakey starters, with straightness of bat not always above suspicion. Tovey, still young, hardly fulfilled his promise of the previous year, but his methods were sound, and when batting for Dorset he showed what he could do. Four other batsmen held out promise of playing well this year—Keun, Kinnersley, Allen (left-handed) and Darlington. The bowling somewhat lacked variety, and Harrison, slow to medium right hand—chosen for the Lord's Schools—was called upon to do rather too much work. His best performance was six for 34 in Rugby's second innings. Whitehead, fastish right, if often dangerous with the new ball, was erratic, although always a trier. Keun, slow medium right, did a great deal of useful bowling, being particularly accurate in both innings of the Tonbridge match. This year, with seven old colours, including Nuttall, Keun, Tovey and Harrison available besides some promising young players, Clifton should have a good team.

While not as good as the two preceding elevens, Tonbridge were a better side than might be inferred, but they had no real opening pair of bowlers. Orton, slow left hand, with a big break both ways, and, on his wicket, very dangerous, lacked consistency; Musson was steady but "plain." Crawford and Peal, change bowlers, proved very useful except at Lord's. The batting deteriorated very definitely after the first five. Davies was out of form until Lord's, when he played a great innings, and the same remark applies, in a lesser degree, to Crawford. Leach deserves selection as probably the best batsman. Musson and Blakelock were sound, though unenterprising, the latter's style being rather stiff. The fielding suffered by comparison with that of two brilliant years, though most of the catches were held. The victory at Lord's was a fine performance, largely due to Crawford and Davies. The few rainfalls of the season ruined the other inter-school matches. Davies (captain), Musson, Leach, Willcocks and Peal are available this year.

Repton were rather stronger in bowling than in normal years. A great deal of credit for this was due to Williams who, in a season mainly of batsmen's wickets, kept up an end, inexpensively. Oldfield, the captain, who maintained excellent form behind the wicket, had a variety of bowlers to choose from. In spite of the comparative failure of some of whom much had been hoped, the batting proved sound. Clarke, Mendl and Human stood out prominently and a satisfactory feature was the manner in which the run-getters attacked the ball. The Pilgrims match furnished a superb piece of bowling by W. T. Greswell, and a magnificent recovery for the school. The stand between Clarke and Human in the second innings yielded 253 runs, producing some of the best cricket seen on the ground since the War. Unfortunately, rain interfered with the Uppingham match and brought that against Shrewsbury to a premature conclusion with the visitors in a strong position, for on that wicket 120 might have been a winning score. For the second time in recent history there was no Malvern match, though illness and not the weather caused the cancellation of the fixture. As in the three previous years, Repton lost only one match and so have to set but four defeats against seventeen victories in the last four years.

Malvern lost the two school matches they played, that against Repton having to be scratched. They were handicapped by lack of effective bowlers, though Lister returned figures of nineteen wickets for under 12 runs apiece. His batting fell off, but there were some very good performances in this department notably against the Old Malvernians, when the school declared twice. Despite a fine innings of 128 by Pullan, the school were beaten five minutes from time, after leaving the Old Boys 200 to get in ninety minutes. Lister bowled very well in this match, taking ten wickets for 88 in the two innings. Against the Foresters, who were beaten by an innings and 15 runs, Walker (133) and Moss (125), who shaped so creditably in the holiday matches at the Oval in September, put up a big stand for the fourth wicket. Crabtree, too, did well with both bat and ball. The school made a good start against Cheltenham, four of the visitors' wickets being down for 15 runs, but R. A. Graham-Smith played a very good innings of 126, and Cheltenham won by 91 runs. At Shrewsbury, D. N. Moore hit up 193, and Malvern, against the bowling of Moore, Green and Headlam, were all out for 97. The fielding of the eleven, especially the catching, reached a high standard, and Bird was sound behind the wicket.

Shrewsbury enjoyed a very successful season, and after the first match against the Town went through unbeaten. Rossall were defeated by an innings and 216 runs after a declaration with six wickets down, Malvern, in a one-day match, by 206 runs, and drawn games were played with Uppingham and Repton. Uppingham required 103 runs, with six wickets in hand, to save the innings defeat, after Shrewsbury had declared at 276 for seven wickets. Bad weather ruined the game at Repton, the home side having lost eight wickets for 45 on a very difficult wicket when rain started, play being abandoned with the score 81 for eight. Moore was the outstanding batsman, making scores of 151 not out v. Rossall, 193 v. Malvern, and 122 v. Uppingham, with an average of 103.80. Moore had a bowling average of 12.26 for 35 wickets. He developed his pace from medium to fast medium as the term went on. G. A. R. Green, another very useful all-rounder, right hand medium, with break from the off, took thirty-eight wickets for 17 runs apiece, and had a batting average of 63. Snow is the new captain, and there remain Sullivan, a promising batsman who came into the side late, Robinson, Barlow and Mill.

Under the guidance of E. B. Pope, Uppingham cricket flourished exceedingly. Of the ten matches played, only one—against the Crusaders—was lost, five being won and four drawn. The features of the cricket were the batting of Pope himself and, in a lesser degree, of Thompson, and the left hand bowling of Brims, who, keeping a good length, flighted the ball cleverly and made it swing late. Chalk winner of the fielding prize, bowled well on many occasions, particularly against Rugby. Fielding at cover he picked up smartly and threw accurately, but failed to find his form with the bat until the end of the term. Lupton was a useful partner to Pope in opening the innings, and fielded well at short leg. Only once in the five matches won did the team pass the 200 mark. The best performance was a one wicket victory over a powerful Foresters XI, who were dismissed for 181. The Haileybury match proved a great disappointment, for after the school had scored 316 by consistently good batting, rain completely spoiled all chance of a finish. The Repton match was also drawn, partly through the weather, but largely owing to the bowling of Chalk and Brims, Rugby were beaten by 51 runs. The batting, on a difficult wicket, collapsed in the first innings against Shrewsbury, but a steady innings by Pope saved the situation. Pope set an admirable example all through the term, hitting the ball hard and fielding untriflingly, like one inspired. Lupton is this year's captain, and Thompson, Parkinson, Ibbotson and D. F. Walker should form the nucleus of another good side.

Of twelve matches played Rossall won two, lost eight, and drew two. On more than one occasion there was a close finish. The worst defeat came from the powerful Shrewsbury XI, when Moore, in his best form, took seven Rossall wickets for 61 and scored 151 not out. Lavery played a captain's innings for Rossall. Lowe, the most orthodox cricketer in the side, played a beautiful innings of 107 against Craven Gentlemen, and, when set, Simpson showed excellent style. Lavery seemed too impatient to make runs and could not do himself justice. The great weakness of the team lay in the attack, this being the more regrettable as the feature of the season was the wicket-keeping of Mackarel. Wilson and Marsden, the latter a good all round cricketer, bowled well at times but seldom troubled first class batsmen. With eight of the young side available this year, Rossall can look forward to a more successful season.

Undoubtedly strong in batting and nearly always scoring freely on their own ground, Charterhouse, so far as their school matches were concerned, had a disappointing season. A low scoring match at Winchester resulted in defeat by three wickets, and at Harrow the eleven were all out for 84, the home side winning by 95 runs. Against Wellington, Jeavons and Eccles, a very useful opening pair, put on 122 for the first wicket, and, Middleton hitting well, the innings was declared at 242 for six wickets. The visitors, despite some good bowling by Dyson (six for 28) just managed to save the game, eight wickets being down for 102 when stumps were drawn. Drizzling rain fell during most of the day. Heavy showers also spoil the Westminster match. Left with two hours and thirty-five minutes to score 222 Charterhouse looked, at one time, as though they might get the runs, but rain came on again and the match was drawn. Greening did several good bowling performances, notably six for 64 against Old Carthusians, and three for 42 against M.C.C., who were beaten by five wickets. Middleton, one of the most consistent batsmen, will captain the side this year.

Westminster were not a very successful side, winning only three matches—those with Butterflies, Household Brigade and Wellington—as against five lost and five drawn. The bowling proved weak and lacked variety, especially after an unfortunate accident to Cooper, who strained his side midway through the season. As he was the one bowler of any pace, his absence robbed the team of a much needed foil to the slow-medium bowlers. Symington, who has an eccentric run up, accomplished effective work with his slow flighted in-swingers. Graham met with success, being very accurate in length with an occasional off-break, but Johnson, a slow left-hander, failed to come on after a promising start. The fielding became good, the catching of Cooper in the slips, the brilliance of Graham at extra-cover, the clean gathering of Milne at cover, and the accurate returns of Evetts from the long field providing its best features. The batting, which gave chief strength to the side, showed all-round improvement. Bompas, a fine forcing player, made his century against M.C.C. in about an hour and a half. Evetts, a beautiful stylist, was very consistent, and Symington was also an attractive bat, his century against Sherborne being a fine effort. Evetts and Graham established a school record for the third wicket partnership, when they put on 220 against Old Westminsters, and each made a century—another school record. Evetts will captain the side this year; Aitken, Wakely and Milne also remain. Bompas—seen at his best at Lord's—kept wicket finely all through the season.

Wellington, with victories over Bradfield and Marlborough, and drawn matches with Charterhouse and Haileybury, the latter much in Wellington's favour, have no reason to feel dissatisfied with last season's results. It is true that Westminster proved successful at Vincent Square for the first time for five years, a deplorable batting collapse occurring when Wellington appeared to have victory in their grasp. Westminster scored 220, and after having 170 on the board for four wickets, Wellington were defeated by 25 runs. Once again the Haileybury match produced the best cricket of the season. After being 25 runs behind on the first innings, Wellington were set 192 to make in two hours and a half, but heavy rain, lasting over half an hour, deprived them of victory, 157 being on the board with eight wickets in hand when time came. In club matches the batting left a good deal to be desired, there being a weakness at Nos. 6, 7, 8, and 9, which became apparent when the earlier batsmen failed. Dashwood made runs very consistently, but he is a batsman whose attack is better than his defence. The bowling was moderate, Freeland a slow medium right hander who could turn the ball both ways, doing best. He accomplished two good performances—six for 42, v. Marlborough, and seven for 28, v. Bradfield. The in-fielding sometimes reached a high standard, with Dashwood brilliant in the gully or the slips, and Tailour good behind the stumps. Probably six old colours remain for this year. The captain will not be appointed until May.

With two matches won and seven lost out of thirteen, Bradfield's record does not read well, but all the other four games were drawn heavily in the school's favour. Mason was a sound, dependable opening batsman, but throughout the season the batting proved uneven and owing to this, the Radley, Stowe and Wellington matches were lost. The bowling contained variety, but was apt to be erratic, and the fielding was generally good, but the slip catching moderate. Castley showed promise behind the wicket toward the end of the term. In a very exciting match against M.C.C. Bradfield won by a wicket in the last over of the day, after the Club had declared at 218 for eight. Gray played a very good innings of 87 not out. Mason, Marshall, Bathurst, Tarry, Gray, Wade and Mackwood should form the nucleus of a more successful side this year.

Of thirteen matches played, Radley won four, lost four and drew five, the victories being gained at the expense of Bradfield, Berkshire Gentlemen, Free Foresters, and Cambridge Crusaders. The record hardly does them justice for they were quite a good side, with chief strength in the bowling. During the season only Stowe made more than 250 runs against them. La Touche a medium pace left arm bowler, could swing the ball and spin it. Had he relied more on spin he would probably have done better. Kershaw's good length brought him many wickets. Gibbs and Dinwiddy, both slow bowlers, did quite well. Dinwiddy certainly got more work on the ball, but was the less accurate. Blunt often kept an end going, without giving runs away. In a somewhat disappointing batting side, Van der Gucht, the captain, was very good. With a pleasing style he watches the ball right on to the bat, and puts power into his strokes. Vestey did well in some matches and, as soon as he masters back play, should make plenty of runs. His driving is excellent. Millar, the stylist of the side, played some delightful innings, while Dinwiddy and Williams both showed promising form. If a little slow on his feet the former watches the ball well. Considering the rough nature of the ground, due to lack of rain, the fielding was good. Van der Gucht, who proved himself a capable captain and wicket-keeper, will again captain the side, with Dinwiddy, Kershaw, Kitching, and Williams for his chief help.

Dulwich, with one of the best elevens to represent them for many years, did not lose a school match, the only defeat suffered being from M.C.C. when only five of the eleven were able to play. Because of the all round strength of the side, the performance of Wilcox, the captain, a very quick sighted batsman, stands out the more prominently. Wilcox set up a school record by scoring 1,025 runs, his average for sixteen completed innings being 64.06. His batting developed with cutting and hooking always good, but the real strength of his play became powerful driving. If somewhat costly, Wilcox took twenty-eight wickets with his slow bowling, and his splendid slip fielding helped the other bowlers, of whom King, quite fast, Simmons and Knight did best. King and Smith showed up well in batting—strong right down the list. King's average of 50.75 was helped by five not out innings. St. Paul's, Lancing and Mill Hill were beaten and drawn matches played with Brighton, Oundle and Bedford, two being in favour of Dulwich. From the first week of the season there existed an air of solidity and smartness about the team, that stamped them as first class. Frankford, who set a great example in the field at cover-point, captains the side this year.

St. Paul's, on the whole, hardly came up to expectations, but the batting proved strong down to No. 5, and there was variety in the bowling, with the ground fielding really good and catching brilliant. Maclean, on the leg side, had few superiors in the schools behind the wicket. Hadingham and Shneerson scarcely showed themselves so consistent an opening pair as in the previous year, though the former, in particular, improved his scoring strokes. When Felton, who developed into a punishing batsman, and Maclean, whose strong defence was a feature of the batting, both failed, the young players who followed were seldom able to put things right. Of the school matches, that against Felsted was ruined by rain, and drawn games took place with Stowe and Bedford. The batting collapsed against the bowling of L. A. W. Simmons, of Dulwich, and a fine innings of 176 by D. R. Wilcox gave the visitors victory by 168 runs. A curious feature of the season was the similarity of the bowling figures, no fewer than four of the team taking between twenty and thirty wickets each at an average cost of between 19 and 20 runs apiece. Richards succeeds Felton as captain, and as seven other old colours remain, including Maclean, Hadingham and Shneerson, St. Paul's should have a better season.

Sherborne won five of their eleven matches, drawing three and losing three, and were, on the whole, a better side than in 1928. The fielding improved, the bowling contained more variety, and the batting was more consistent. Glover, fast right hand, and Hopcraft, slow medium right, bore the brunt of the attack, with Mermagen, fast medium right, Seddon, slow left hand, Eglington and Smith both medium pace right hand, as changes. Simmonds, who scored 165 v. Westminster, and 123 v. Old Shirburnians, easily topped the batting averages. Occasionally uncertain during the first few overs, he drove and hit to leg well when set. Eglington was much too apt to hit at everything, and, though very consistent in the early games failed later in the season. His 72 v. Radley was perhaps the best innings of the year for the side. Mermagen and Tallent batted consistently well, Ferguson, Brown and Smith being fairly sound. The tail was very strong, the last three wickets at Westminster adding 220, and the last at Tonbridge, 50. Carey, who has at least two more years in the eleven, kept wicket very well, and Eglington, Tallent, Mermagen and Ferguson were the pick of an improved fielding side. Mermagen again captains the side this year, with Carey, Brown and Smith available.

Lancing College began the season with only two old colours—Cawston, the captain, and Fletcher, the latter of whom had a poor season. With an entirely new team to be built up, the match results (won 5, lost 3 and drawn 7), were not unsatisfactory. For this, Cawston, who played twice for Sussex, not without distinction, was almost entirely responsible. He headed both the batting and bowling averages. In 14 completed innings he made 966 runs, with a highest score of 204 not out and an average of 69. He also took 53 wickets for 16.3 runs apiece. His cricket, generally, was of a very high order. It is expected he will go to Cambridge. In bowling he received admirable support from Hall, a slow leg break bowler who can exploit the googly, and had the excellent figures of 59 wickets for 17.8 runs each. Except for the wicket-keeping of Harcourt-Williams, there was little else of note. Chretien, who is captain, Spens, Hall and Pearse are available this year.

Bedford who began well owed their early success to the all-round play of Cook the captain. He made most of the runs and also played a big part in dismissing good batting sides for low scores. A sound bat, who watched the ball well, and hit hard in front of the wicket, and a really dangerous bowler with the new ball, he was the mainstay of the team. It is significant that until Leys and St. Paul's were met no side scored over 200 against the school when Cook played. By this time Cook had tired himself out and he was still stale at Lord's where he played for the Rest against the Lord's Schools. Otherwise the attack was only change, though the medium spin bowling of Wise proved dangerous on a suitable wicket. Sinclair, fast medium, as a relief to Cook, and Rumboll (medium) and Forbes (slow) were useful, but Bedford badly wanted a left-hander. The strong batting broke down only twice—against the Crusaders and Leys. Cook made two centuries, and Hopkinson, Gulland, Wise, Moll and Sinclair all scored over fifty on at least one occasion. The fielding though not bad did not reach brilliance. Finch came on as a wicket-keeper. Moll captains the eleven this year, and Wise, Suter, Forbes, and possibly Finch are again available.

Very strong last year, Leys had an unbeaten record. Oundle, Bedford, Felstead, and U.C.S., in addition to the M.C.C. were defeated, and a close game with St. Paul's resulted in a draw. The batting proved so consistent that all ten wickets did not fall in an innings until the last match of the season. Brown, who represented the Schools against The Army at Lord's, again showed himself to be the mainstay of the side, his batting, though deteriorating late in the term, being much sounder than last year, while his fast medium bowling accounted for 60 wickets at just over 11 runs apiece. His progress at Cambridge will be watched with interest. Skinner, Bisseker, and Whiston made lots of runs in good style. Champness and Wales bowled steadily and Hockin, coming into the side late, displayed promising form. The fielding was always good and occasionally brilliant. Seven old colours remain for this year.

Oundle, who lost to Leys, but drew with Bedford and Dulwich, had a good level batting side, and could generally put together over 200 runs even after a bad start, but they were weak in bowling and suffered from faulty slip fielding, although otherwise the work was quite good. In their best performance they secured a good win by 11 runs over the M.C.C., whom they dismissed for 189, Buckley taking five wickets for 56.

Cranleigh, left with five old colours, looked like having a good side, but a series of accidents and illness throughout the term, made the season very disappointing. Of the five school matches, those against Mill Hill, Epsom (at the Oval), and Christ's Hospital had to be scratched. A close game against Lancing, with two of the best old colours away, was lost by two wickets, and that against Highgate lost by eight wickets. Attwell, a slow left arm bowler and left hand bat, should do well in the future. Morrison-Jones and Goodall remain and with some fairly promising material coming on cricket at the school ought to improve with extra coaching.

Downside, in spite of a bad start, had one of their most successful seasons for some years. All twelve matches were brought to a finish—a remarkable feature—six being won including all the school matches, and six lost. The fielding reached a very high standard and the bowling improved greatly as the season progressed, though it lacked variety, all the bowlers, except O'Connor (slow breaks) being medium pace. Day achieved most success, but Evans, Radcliffe, O'Connor, and Allan, the captain, all did well on occasions. The batting, though quite satisfactory, revealed a tendency to collapse when the first few men were out. O'Connor and Smythe-Pigott several times enjoyed invaluable first-wicket partnerships, their best being when they passed Blundell's score of 105 without being separated. O'Kelly's consistent soundness behind the wicket should be of great service again this year. Radcliffe is the new captain, and there remain O'Kelly, O'Connor, Smythe-Pigott, Butterfield and Hibbert.

Ampleforth did very well after their first three matches, all of which were lost, four of the next ten being won and five drawn. Bootham and St. Peter's, York, were beaten and the match with Durham spoilt by rain. The bowling contained variety, Bean, who also headed the batting averages, taking 51 wickets with his slow leg breaks—the "wrong 'un" and the straight one very cleverly disguised. Ruddin, fast right hand, and Smith, fast medium left hand, also were good. The batting remained sound right through, and the fielding good, King, the captain, setting an excellent example at cover point. Burge showed further improvement as wicket keeper, and in several matches displayed brilliant form. Bean and Burge and two promising bats in French-Davies and Grieve will form the foundation of this year's eleven.

St. Peter's, York, were a better side than the results suggest, their victory over Durham, who had not been beaten for some time, being an excellent performance. Hutton, the captain, made runs consistently, as did Allport, a brilliant cover point. Daintry (medium fast) Williams (slow), and Perry (slow breaks) were the mainstay of the bowling, and Draffan, an efficient wicket-keeper, improved greatly as the season progressed. Hutton celebrated his captaincy by playing several fine innings, including 87 against the M.C.C. and 73 against Durham. Allport will captain the side this year, and there also remain Williams, Draffan and Avery.

Stowe, who lost only two matches, drawing six and winning six, were a strong batting side. Three players secured averages of over 50. Howland-Jackson, essentially a first wicket batsman, excelled with average over 70. He and Kemp put on 244 for the first wicket in the match with the Cryptics, against whom the school declared at 336 for one wicket, Howland-Jackson being not out 204. Ling, Carr, Bennett, Jackson and Kemp all showed promise. The bowling did not reach the same high level. Radley and Bradfield were well beaten; drawn matches played against St. Paul's (in Stowe's favour) and against Westminster (in favour of Westminster). Unfinished games also took place with Free Foresters, M.C.C. and Oxford Authentics. Cambridge Crusaders won after the school had declared at 254 for three and I.Z. were beaten by a wicket on the stroke of time. Kemp captains the eleven this year, but only two other old colours, Maude and Bennett, are available.

St. Lawrence, Ramsgate, who won seven matches and lost seven had a fairly good season. They lost to Dover when they appeared to have the match well in hand, but beat King's, Canterbury and St. Edmund's, Canterbury. Little fault could be found with the batting, but the bowling, with the marked exception of Myburgh, did not come up to the same standard. In the side there were three really good cricketers—Oswald (the captain), Myburgh and Slade. Oswald batted well and consistently for the first half of the season, but then lost confidence owing to a bad knock in the mouth from a fast bowler. He has the making of a very good bat. Myburgh, fastish right hand, bowled exceedingly well and got through a lot of work. Slade is a promising all-round cricketer. This year's eleven suggests strength, with eight old colours left, including Myburgh, Slade, Hill and Hardie, who all showed to advantage.

Illness interfered greatly with Epsom's season, most of the inter-school matches having to be scratched at a time when there was legitimate hope of recording the most successful year for a long period. Brighton were defeated in a low scoring match, and the remainder of the opposition had to be supplied by club sides. The fielding showed great improvement, hardly a catch being missed. In this respect Pettigrew set a fine example, and he was also an admirable No. 1 batsman. Taylor proved unusually consistent for a natural hitter, often making valuable runs at a critical point. Hodges did not find his form until halfway through the season: he should be very useful this year. G. S. Bentley, fast, and Youngusband, medium slow, contrasted nicely as the opening pair of bowlers, and Holmes gave them good support. Hodges, captain this year, will have the services of Heasman, G. S. Bentley, Hunton, and R. H. Bentley.

Highgate, who beat King's Canterbury, Cranleigh, and Aldenham, drew with Mill Hill for the third successive year, and lost by two runs to Felsted, were an enterprising side. They batted down to No. 10, and no matter what the state of the game, hit the half volley. Adlard, a most promising googly bowler, was the best man in attack, and the fielding was excellent, Webster at mid-off, Adlard and E. J. K. Chapman being particularly good. Walton and Webster became the principal run getters; with Adlard, Westerby and Lock all consistent. Westerby will captain the eleven this year, and Mackie, who shapes well behind the wicket, is the only other old colour.

Mill Hill did not maintain the standard of the preceding years, but beat U.C.S. rather unexpectedly at the beginning of the season, and showed up well against Merchant Taylors and Highgate, in both of which matches time robbed them of victory. Against Bedford Modern, Dulwich and Leys they fared badly, the lack of bowling being their great weakness. H. E. H. Beven, the captain, was by far the most reliable batsman on the side, and but for him they would have been in a sorry plight on more than one occasion. Of a very young side five old colours, Aish, Wotton, Wright, Morley and Dence remain, and they should be stronger this year.

Merchant Taylors hardly came up to expectations, being weak in bowling but, time permitting, the majority of their drawn games could probably have been turned into victories. Parry, the captain, who was strong on the side, showed great improvement in his off play, and with Huskisson formed the backbone of the batting. Great keenness marked the fielding. Wildash, who captains the side this year, was the most successful bowler, and Crocker who, unfortunately, left midway through the term, also bowled well. Wildash expects to have the assistance of at least three old colours.

Both in batting and bowling Surfleet, one of the most promising batsmen of the year, and the captain, Rowney, were the best cricketers of University College School. In a satisfactory season eight matches were won, five lost (including Leys and Mill Hill) and three drawn. Surfleet and Rowney bore the brunt of the attack, though the brothers C. M. and G. M. Wilson, both left-handers, often bowled well. Only Leys and the Nondescripts made scores of over 200 against them. In batting Surfleet and Rowney were consistent; C. M. Wilson reliable; the remainder proved disappointing. Surfleet is captain this year, and five other old colours are available.

King's, Canterbury were unfortunate in having their wicket-keeper and most dependable batsman, Crouch-Main, and the best bowler, Wyatt, on the injured list for a long time, and consequently had a bad season, winning only three of the twelve matches played, and losing eight. The young side, without these two players, both in their third year in the eleven, thus lacked experience, but showed improvement as the season went on. The fielding, however, never became consistent. The team should do much better this year with seven old colours, including Paris, last year's captain.

Brighton, with a strong batting side, lost two matches, won six and drew five. Most of these ended in their favour. The defeats came from Epsom, when the batting collapsed, and Repton Pilgrims, for whom W. T. Greswell bowled well. Jarchow proved the most reliable run-getter Brighton have had for a number of years, being especially good on the leg side. He averaged over 70 for twelve innings, and found good support from Phillips, Maxwell, Cashford and Jones. In bowling, Levett, Green and Newth did the greater part of the work. Levett kept a good length and turned the ball quickly. Green was less reliable, possibly owing to his efforts to bowl fast leg breaks. Newth improved steadily as the season went on and kept a length with a fair amount of spin. The fielding, on the whole, was excellent, Jarchow, Ronald, Jones, Levett and Phillips being consistently good, and Maxwell showing great promise behind the wicket. Jarchow is captain again this year. Probably Green, Jones, Maxwell and Ronald will be available.

Eastbourne, with two matches won and four lost, showed much better form than appears from their record, six of seven drawn games ending greatly in their favour. Huelin, in the slips, and Cooper, at cover point, fielded brilliantly, and of the batsmen, Bridgewater and Malcolm, with averages of 42 and 70, had splendid seasons. Bridgewater represented The Rest against the Lord's Schools, and Malcolm, the most promising bowler on the side, particularly successful in school matches, played a very good innings of 65 for the Young Amateurs against the Young Professionals at Lord's. Duncanson will captain the side this year, and there are six old colours left, including Malcolm, of whom more should be heard.

St. Edward's won both their inter-school matches—against Imperial Service College and Bromsgrove, the latter being beaten by eight wickets. In all, four matches were won, four lost and five drawn, many of them being marked by low scoring. The bowling reached a good standard, with Beal, Woodroffe, Sargeant and Veitch the best. Barnes, the captain, headed the batting averages, and second to him came Gibb, who also performed very creditably behind the stumps. Barnes will again captain the side, and he will have the assistance of Hoare, Veitch, Beal, Gibb, Woodroffe and Green.

Bromsgrove did not realise the hopes in which the inclusion of seven old colours and some promising material from the colts entitled them to indulge. The fielding, by the end of the season, became extremely smart and the attack, though without sting, was at all times steady, and handled with good judgment. The batting, however, proved disappointing as never more than three batsmen succeeded in any one match, and several drawn games could have been won but for the slowness of the opening players. Apart from the results of the first eleven matches, the outlook, for this season, is very bright, as the "22" Colts and "under 15," all showed great promise. Hemingway, who will captain the side, Padfield, Barnes and Williams return this year.

Wellingborough had their strongest side since the war. Seven batsmen averaged over 20. The best, Veitch, the captain, scored one century and seven times exceeded fifty. Cox and Hill were good forcing players. Benton, fast right hand, proved the most successful of the bowlers. Strongly built, he maintained his pace well. Pike kept a good length and swung from leg but, though he constantly beat the bat, bowled without luck. The fielding was clean and active and the side suffered in the severity of the penalty that followed the few missed catches. Six matches were won, four drawn, and defeats sustained at the hands of Bedford, M.C.C. and Beds. Club and Ground.

Sedbergh, though they won only three of the twelve matches played, had a satisfactory season, losing only two and drawing seven. They beat Stonyhurst by eight wickets in the one school game finished, the fixture with Durham being spoilt by heavy rain on the first day. The batting was quite sound throughout, Nicholls, the captain proving the most reliable, while L. Armstrong, a useful opening batsman, and Wilson and Somerville came on well towards the end of the season. The bowling had variety and accuracy without being very deadly. Moffat, fast medium right hand, Brookes, medium left hand, and Dick, slow left hand spinners, did well. Dick, though he could definitely turn the ball, was never really lively off the pitch. Hockin, right hand in-swingers, did not fulfil the promise shown the previous year. Hutton met with fair success as wicket-keeper.

Durham, a young, inexperienced side, had their matches with Sedbergh and Ampleforth spoilt by rain and that against St. Peter's, York, was lost. Taylor, the captain, the only consistent batsman, finished the season with an average of 32. Smeddle is captain this year, and Lawyer also remains.

Rydal won six, lost seven and drew seven matches. Hartley, the captain, had a good season with the bat, and A. S. Wigfield, Rouston, Wooller and Bibby all played well on occasions, but the young side lacked experience. Kay, only fourteen years of age, showed distinct promise. Elson, slow left hand, the mainstay of a good bowling side, took 74 wickets for under 16 runs apiece. He fights the ball well, bowls well up, and is not afraid of being hit.

A. S. Wigfield is the captain this year and there are eight other old colours.

Though losing to Downside and Taunton, Blundell's enjoyed a more successful season than for some years. In all, four matches were won, six drawn, and three lost. The consistent batting had no appreciable tail, and the bowling contained more variety than in the previous summer when the brunt of the attack rested on one player. Ireland was the most successful batsman, and Taylor, who returns to captain the eleven this year, headed the bowling averages. Four other old colours remain in Harvey, Sanders, Talbot, and Nayler.

Perse, whose success depended largely on the first four batsmen, Malt, Slade, Fredman and Waters, won five of the twelve matches played, losing three and drawing four. Malt, a slow but sound bat and a useful medium pace right hand bowler, headed both the averages. Baldwin is captain this year and has the services of Heal, Fuller, Waters, Hughes and Parker.

Wrekin's young side did well in important matches, Bromsgrove being beaten by five wickets. Harrisson, the captain, hit well; Eaves, the best bat in the side, has two more years in the eleven. Ship was "the best boy wicket-keeper I have seen in six years," a correspondent tells me, and Griffith, right hand medium swing bowler, and P. Lamb, slow spinner, who will probably have three more years, took many wickets. Eight old colours remain for this year, viz., Elliott (captain), Griffith, Eaves, Lamb, Gill, Poole, Bower and MacGregor.

Whitgift did not meet with the success hoped for. The lack of experience in the young team told at critical moments. City of London were beaten and Hurstpierpoint narrowly escaped defeat. Of the other inter-school matches, one was drawn and two lost. Thompson, the captain, who is again available this year, with two other old colours—Hughes and Sykes—took over sixty wickets, and Merrett, who headed the batting averages, made runs consistently.

Trinity College, Glenalmond, though losing to Fettes, Watson's and Merchiston, had a fair season, Loretto and Edinburgh Academy being beaten. The bowling lacked sting, though the batting proved strong. Lorraine, a hard hitting bat, made most runs. G. R. C. Wotherspoon, very steady, played slow bowling well, and C. I. Wotherspoon displayed good style. MacRosty, the captain, always batted well and gave the side a good lead, but Dundas played only two good innings. Of the bowlers, Hogarth, fast medium with a slight off break, and MacRosty, who kept a good length and swung the ball either way, did best. Ross, slow leg breaks, became very expensive, but occasionally bowled the wrong 'un with effect, and Gregoire, kept a length and turned from the off, but lacked devil. The fielding was very good and Dunbar sound behind the wicket. There are seven old colours to form the nucleus of this year's eleven.

Fettes possessed a batting side well above their average, Jones, who completed his 1,000 runs in the last match of the season, being the outstanding player. His centuries included 149 v. Edinburgh Academy, 106 v. Loretto (for whom I. M. Waters contributed 75 and 116) and 137 not out v. George Watson's College. All the school matches were won except that against Loretto—left drawn in favour of Fettes. Five old colours are available this year, viz., Anson, Reid, Grant, Macpherson and Coupar.

ETON v. WINCHESTER.

Played at ETON, Friday, Saturday, June 28, 29.—Although a fine batting display by Eton enabled Hazlerigg to declare with eight men out and a firstinnings lead of 162, they lacked the bowling strength to follow up this advantage, and for the fifth successive year the match ended in a draw. Winning the toss, Winchester scored slowly, but thanks to Winlaw and McCaskie, who hit seven 4's, their total reached 265. Hazlerigg and Monroe-Hinds replied with a fine opening stand of 132, and Eton wound up the day 119 behind with one wicket down. Attractive play on Saturday by the later batsmen, especially Lord Dalmeny, whose figures included seven 4's, led to a declaration at quarter to four. Roughly three hours then remained, but all possibility of a definite result quickly vanished. Davies-Scourfield settled down to a sound display, and Winchester finished 33 behind with seven wickets to fall.

ETON v. HARROW.

Played at LORD'S, Friday, Saturday, July 12, 13.—In the hundredth match between Eton and Harrow there occurred a return to the draw which had been the result six times consecutively before Eton won by 28 runs in 1928. Failure to reach a definite issue did not denote lack of keenness in the endeavour of each side to prevail, or entail a dull ending. Runs indeed always came fast until Harrow were compelled to exercise caution to avoid defeat. The two days yielded an aggregate of 1,037 runs, thirty-one wickets falling and the game being prolonged until twenty-five minutes past seven in order that Eton, if possible, might force home their superiority. Declaring at a quarter to five Eton did not allow themselves long enough to accomplish this purpose, but they conveyed the impression of being a very good all round side.

Fortunate to bat first under entirely favourable conditions, Eton scored 347 runs in just over four hours. The early loss of Hazlerigg, the captain, did not upset his colleagues, free and attractive hitting giving distinction to the cricket throughout the innings. The hard turf invited the confident use of true Eton batting. Well directed forward strokes at the pitch of the ball brought runs readily despite steady bowling and smart fielding. Occasionally the ball went off the edge of the bat, but the small number of runs registered in this way emphasised the merit of going well out to meet "length" bowling. Rome, the Harrow captain, varied his attack in the manner likely to prevent his bowlers becoming tired, but unfortunately, Ford, when he looked like finishing off the innings for a moderate total, so exhausted himself in chasing a ball to the boundary, that he had to take a rest. As it was the last three wickets put on 136 runs, and Eton secured a position that left them free from anxiety. Dalmeny, hitting up 65 out of 116 in an hour, accounted mainly for this valuable addition. Forcing the game directly he went in, Dalmeny drove brilliantly, and with nearly as much power to the off as when hitting straight. Twelve 4's—several of them to leg—testified to his freedom. Many fine strokes of his were stopped, and he fell to a catch in front of the tavern from a big square leg hit, Lawrence, a left-handed bowler with beautiful action, getting his only wicket in this way.

Monroe-Hinds began Eton's admirable display by hitting eight 4's whilst obtaining 61 runs out of 108 in seventy-five minutes. He placed the ball neatly to leg and drove in capital style. Atkinson-Clarke, with the same number of boundary strokes, showed, during a similar period, almost as much freedom, good cutting providing a noticeable feature of his excellent cricket. With partners capable of inflicting such punishment, Hale—at the wickets an hour and three-quarters—exercised more restraint in a thoroughly sound innings. Baerlein and Nevinson both got their runs well during the period that Dalmeny was attracting most attention.

Ford, judiciously used by his captain, put his exceptional height—6 feet 3 inches—to fine purpose. He always made the ball gather pace from the pitch and undoubtedly was faster than he looked. In such a big score his analysis of five wickets at 10 runs apiece entitled him to high praise. Bull, standing back, and Rothschild, in the slips, helped Ford with good catches. Rothschild—the only other bowler to dismiss more than one batsman—proved very expensive in the effort to mix his pace and spin.

When Harrow went in Rothschild out and hit to leg so well that he made 43 out of 68 before Hazlerigg dismissed him, and in an hour and a quarter the total reached 107 without further loss. Then, after a brief interval for refreshment brought out on the ground, Nevinson bowled Rattigan and 10 runs later he dismissed Shuckburgh and Lawrence with consecutive balls. A little later half the side were out for 133, Nevinson, after he resumed, having then sent down six overs for 13 runs and four wickets. Like Ford, from the pavilion end, Nevinson made the ball go quickly from the pitch but having beaten Welch, who erred in playing back, he found himself opposed by Rome and Liddell—both resolute players capable of sound defence. Scoring 58 runs in the last hour these two admirable batsmen materially improved Harrow's prospect of making a close fight.

Wanting 57 to avoid a follow-on, Harrow next morning had anxiety on that point removed before another wicket fell. Producing 61 more runs, the sixth partnership realised altogether 119 in two hours. Rome, batting two hours and a half, hit seven 4's. After this stand three men were dismissed for 27 more runs but the last wicket put on 39. In this way Harrow, having batted forty minutes longer than their opponents, got to within 29 of the Eton total. A remarkable feature of the innings was that every wicket fell without the help of a fieldsmen. Nevinson, bowling fairly fast with steady length and varied spin, maintained his form splendidly, standing out by himself in an attack that, a part from contrasts in pace, lacked variety.

Hazlerigg forced the game with good effect when Eton batted a second time. Hitting twelve 4's, he made 71 out of 94 in eighty minutes, but Monroe-Hinds could not repeat his previous success. Hale afterwards, by dashing cricket, scored 109 in seventy-five minutes. Taking risks, he enjoyed some luck, being missed when 23, but the twenty-sixth century recorded in the history of these games came as the result of courageous cricket, which roused a great crowd to much enthusiasm. Hale hit fifteen 4's, drives, cuts and leg hits giving variety to his fine display. Had Atkinson-Clarke fallen to a catch he offered directly after the third wicket went down at 102, Harrow might have kept the struggle even. The two blunders actually cost 154 runs in seventy minutes.

The severe hitting may have unnerved batsmen, who, after severe work on an extremely hot afternoon, were sent in at five minutes past five with 294 runs to get in two hours twenty-five minutes. At any rate all hopes entertained of Harrow accomplishing this task disappeared almost at once. Dalmeny, bowling fast from the nursery end, beat Rothschild before a run had been scored and Rattigan left at six. Shuckburgh, however, batting with splendid spirit, considering the situation, hit eight 4's and had a two increased to six by an overthrow in scoring 53 out of 75 before he was fifth out. Rome, having gone in fourth wicket down, then received the requisite help from Liddell these batsmen, as in the first innings, saving the side from disaster. When at seven o'clock the extra half hour had been claimed by Eton, Liddell relaxed from his defensive game and hitting round at a slow from Franks, was bowled. Watson, however, did not attempt to make runs, and stayed with his captain until stumps were pulled up. Rome batted wonderfully well for an hour and a quarter, raising his aggregate of runs in the match to 101. Nearly 22,000 people were present on Friday, and the company on Saturday was estimated at 25,000, the scene each afternoon, in the glorious weather, being charming to a degree.

Of the 100 matches played, Eton have won 40, Harrow 35, and 25 have been drawn. This is the generally published record, but Harrow men object very strongly to the game in 1805 being treated as a regular contest between the two schools, contending that it is no more correct to count that than the fixture in 1857 which has been rejected.

The one day matches between the two schools during the War are not reckoned as belonging to the regular series.

CLIFTON v. TONBRIDGE.

Played at LORD'S, Monday, Tuesday, July 29, 30.—There was a great finish to this match, Tonbridge, although set 247 to make in their second innings, obtaining those runs for the loss of nine batsmen and so gaining a remarkable victory by one wicket. The success of the Tonbridge boys was the more remarkable as, on the opening day, Clifton secured a lead of 89 on the first innings and left off that evening 106 ahead with nine wickets to fall. Clifton fared badly to begin with, their score with five wickets down being only 77. Allen, a left-hander, then hit out so freely that in an hour he made 86, among his strokes being eleven 4's. Keun helped him to put on 118 for the sixth wicket. Tonbridge at their first attempt accomplished nothing of special note. On Tuesday morning, however, despite a creditable effort by Kinnersley, they finished off the Clifton innings for the addition of 140 runs. Tonbridge, on going in, lost two wickets for 53 but then Davies and Crawford made a glorious stand which went a long way towards deciding the issue. Davies, however, should have been out for 27. When Tonbridge with nine men out wanted 2 to win, Keun sent down a ball which shot, beat the batsman, just missed the stumps, beat the wicket-keeper, went for 4 byes, and so gave Tonbridge victory.

RUGBY v. MARLBOROUGH.

Played at LORD'S, Wednesday, Thursday, July 31, August 1. — The seventy-second match between Rugby and Marlborough was ruined by bad weather, rain delaying the start on Wednesday until two o'clock and bringing play to a close three-quarters of an hour after the tea interval, while on Thursday it restricted further progress with the game to thirty-five minutes. In these circumstances the result was, of course, a draw—for the third year in succession. Rugby on Wednesday, without achieving anything of special note, batted consistently, only three of the nine boys dismissed in putting together a total of 216 failing to reach double figures. Robinson and Fehr played well in a partnership of 41 and Oswald made some nice strokes while Jackson, Hunting and Leader rendered useful support, the last named driving in capital style. Hewan, the Marlborough captain, was apt to overpitch but still obtained four wickets with his slows and Nelson flighted the ball skilfully. Next day, Rugby declared at their overnight score. Despite the liberal use of sawdust, little could be done between the showers but Rugby disposed of three of their opponents for 25 runs before the game was abandoned.

CHELTENHAM v. HAILEYBURY.

Played at Lord's, Friday, Saturday, August 2, 3. — Cheltenham showed themselves an appreciably stronger side than Haileybury and won by 185 runs but such a stubborn fight did Haileybury make in trying to avert defeat that only five minutes remained for play when their last wicket went down. Cheltenham began by losing half their wickets for 96 and in accomplishing that much were lucky, seeing that Page off the first ball he received was given a life, Ekin and Taite, however, hit well on occasion and added 53. Haileybury, thanks mainly to Bullmore and Newson, had at one point 80 on the board with only two men out but the later batsmen cut so indifferent a figure that the whole innings produced only 50 more runs. Left with a lead of 84, Cheltenham scored 10 runs without loss and next morning, Brettell and Meikle brought the total to 70 before the first wicket fell, Brettell staying until the score reached 138. Afterwards the batsmen hit out freely and nine wickets had fallen for 242 when the innings was declared. Set 327 to win, Haileybury had five men out for 75 but some dogged work by Keen and Wills nearly saved the game. Cheltenham owed much to Ekin who, in addition to sharing in an invaluable stand, took nine wickets in the match at a cost of only 5 runs apiece.

LORD'S SCHOOLS v. THE REST.

Played at LORD'S, Monday, Tuesday, August 5, 6.—Following upon a keen and fairly even day's cricket on Monday and every prospect of an interesting struggle, the weather proved so wet on Tuesday that not a ball could be bowled, the conditions being so hopeless that the game was abandoned early in the afternoon. The batting of Wilcox of Dulwich—afterwards tried for Essex—stood out as the feature of The Rest's innings, this young player making 78 out of 153 without a mistake. Particularly severe on the short pitched ball, he hit a 5 and eleven 4's. Dashwood of Wellington, watching the ball well and showing a strong defence, defied the Lord's Schools attack for more than two hours and carried out his bat. Hazlerigg of Eton varied his bowling with considerable skill and took five wickets for less than 12 runs apiece. Rothschild of Harrow and Crawford of Tonbridge batting brightly put on 61 for the Lord's Schools' second wicket. Rome of Harrow and Bryce-Smith of Cheltenham, despite the exercise of much caution, each gave a chance off McCaskie of Winchester, but their partnership, if rather tiresome to watch, was not broken until the score reached 146. There was little in the position at the drawing of stumps, Lord's Schools being 136 behind but having six wickets to fall.

THE ARMY v. THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Played at LORD'S, Wednesday, Thursday, August 7, 8. — Yet another game spoiled by rain was that between the Army and the Public Schools, only fifty minutes' cricket being possible on the opening day and the contest naturally having to be left drawn on Thursday. During the brief period the players were on the field after lunch on Wednesday, Cawston and Wilcox, despite the indifferent light, batted so well on the soft dead pitch that they scored 52 runs without being separated. Next day nothing could be done until a quarter to twelve when the Schools, on continuing their innings, proceeded in very deliberate fashion until Evans the Haileybury left-hander, came in and hit well all round the wicket. The innings was declared on the fall of the sixth wicket at 208. On the Army going in, Dynes and Rogers, against keen bowling and smart fielding, showed capital form in a second wicket partnership, but afterwards the boys met with marked success until Burrows offered a careful opposition to the attack. In the end the Army stood 48 behind with a wicket to fall. Nevinson of Eton disposed of five Army batsmen at a cost of only 31 runs.
